THE PANAMA ISSUE PROVES SUCCESS

Government's Three Percent. $50,000,000 Loan Was Over Subscribed.

TAKEN BY SMALL INVESTORS

More Than 3,000 Bids Opened by Secretary of Treasury—United States Credit Highest in the World—Details.

Washington, June 17.—Such estimates of the bids for the government's 3 per cent. $50,000,000 Panama loan as are available tonight, indicate that the loan has been three times oversubscribed and that the average price of the new bonds will run a little over 102.50. The bonafide bids received will total about $170,000,000. Of that amount $2,300,000 was subscribed at 3 per cent. or more; $32,000,000 at over 102.50; $81,000,000 at between 101.50 and 102.50, and $52,000,000 at 102 and under.

The successful bidders and the amounts which they will receive are as follows: Harvey Fisk & Sons, of New York, $10,000,000; Hanover National Bank, of New York, $4,600,000; American Exchange National Bank, of New York, $3,100,000; William A. Reed & Son of New York, $1,000,000; Seaboard National Bank of New York, $600,000; National Park Bank of New York, $500,000; Folsom & Adams, New York, $400,000; First Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, $350,000; Hibernia Savings & Loan Company of San Francisco, $300,000; Seattle National Bank, Seattle, Wash., $200,000.

The majority of what remains available below these sums will go to small bidders scattered all over the country. If the price of the bonds averages 102.50 as Treasury officials think it will they will yield to the investor 2.90 per cent.

The National City Bank, of New York, which bid for the whole issue at prices varying from 100.1005 to 102.50, will not get any of the new bonds. Neither will Kuhn, Loeb & Co. who bid for $10,000,000.

The government's new 3 per cent. $50,000,000 Panama loan is a complete success. More than 3,000 bids opened today oversubscribed it at least three times and probably more.

Before the opening of the bids had been in progress half an hour, Treasury officials declared that the loan would be entirely taken by comparatively small investors at a price higher than 102 1-2.

The prices bid for the new bonds are taken to indicate that the National credit of the United States is the highest in the world. Securities of England, France and Germany are selling at a discount and many financiers believed that the new Panama loan would bring little above par. The price of these securities available for investment only, are taken to reflect the credit of the nation.

The National City Bank, of New York, submitted 50 bids covering the entire issue of $50,000,000 at prices ranging from 100.5001 to 102.25. Harvey Fisk & Sons, of New York, bid 102.77 for $20,000,000. There were other large bids at about that figure.

Among the smaller bids prices ran to 105 and higher for small allottments of $500 and up. Hundreds of bids for sums ranging from $1,000,000 to $10,000,000 at prices between 1.02.50 and 103 probably will take the issue, though the successful bidders may not be known until tomorrow.

Secretary MacVeagh expressed satisfaction at the showing.

THE TARBORO BANK.

State Bank Examiner Returns to Raleigh, Talks of Defalcations.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 17.—State Bank Examiner J. K. Doughton arrived tonight from Tarboro to spend Sunday, and says it will take a week to make the thorough examination of the Bank of Tarboro necessary to ascertain the exact shortage of Cashier Hart, who suicided, and Assistant Cashier Hussey, who is held in $15,000 bond for defalcations. He says the shortage will be $100,000 and very probably $125,000. While the shortages have been accumulating gradually for seven years, much the larger part of it, has occurred within the past six or ten months. It seems to Examiner Doughton, he says, that the cashiers found themselves so deeply involved that they could not straighten their books further and gave up at the last moment.

MORMON LEADER MUST APPEAR

Joseph F. Smith Summoned to Testify Before Committee Investigating Sugar Trust—Chairman Hardwick's Ultimatum.

Washington, June 17.—Joseph F. Smith, of Salt Lake City, head of the Mormon church, must come to Washington to testify before the House committee investigating the so-called sugar trust, regarding his connection with the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company. Replying to a message from Mr. Smith saying that an attack of rheumatism and business obligations would prevent his appearance here, Chairman Hardwick, of the committee tonight sent this ultimatum:

"Committee has determined to have your testimony; the only question left is will you come on the 22nd without subpoena, or shall we send an officer to serve you? Please answer at once."

At a late hour tonight Mr. Smith had not been heard from again.

In his message to Mr. Hardwick, the head of the Mormon church declared that "the sugar industry in Utah and Idaho is one of the great blessings to the people of those States. The men in management are capable, honest men, any one of whom can give you all the information that I can, and more, in regard to the details of the business. I am always willing to give evidence in any business in which I am connected, but my obligations here make it exceedingly difficult, if not impossible for me to reach Washington by the 22nd. John Henry Smith, one of the presidency of the church, a director and member of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, is now in the East and could, without expense to the government, meet your committee and answer any questions possible for me to answer. Besides all this, I am suffering with sciatica rheumatism and am in no health to go to Washington."

ASKS ARMY INVESTIGATION.

Representative Kahn Introduced Resolution In the House.

Washington, June 17.—Representative Kahn, of California, introduced in hte House today a resolution which would provide for a thorough investigation of the Army, and which declares that the United States should be given an efficient fighting force in return for the one hundred million dollars and more expended every year on the military establishment. The resolution would direct the appointment of a Congressional Committee of ten to sit at any place deemed fit and to call upon the War Department for any documents desired.

"I understand from men who are in a position to know," said Representative Kahn, in commenting upon his resolution, "that the recent mobilization on the Mexican frontier was rather a failure. True, the troops were promptly dispatched to the place of rendezvous, but having arrived at their destination it developed that there was such a lack of organization that it required several months' time to make the one division of troops that were mooilized in Texas half way effective.

"This would indicate that under our present system it is impossible to mobilize a single division of troops at war strength within reasonable time. It clearly shows that something is radically wrong and the sooner we find out what that something is the better for the country. We expend upwards of $100,000,000 a year on our military establishment. It ought to be in a complete state of preparedness for any possible emergency."

SUBMARINES BROKE RECORD.

Remained Under Water Ten Hours In Long Coast Run.

Gloucester, Mass., June 17.—American records for submerged runs were broken by the flotilla of submarines, which arrived her today from Newport. All of the number stayed under water for ten hours yesterday during the run from Nantucket to Provincetown, while two of the number did not come to the surface for eleven hours. This is the longest time that any submarine of the United States navy has ever remained under the surface, according to the officers of the flotilla.

The run from Provincetown to this port today was made entirely beneath the surface and consumed seven and a half hours. The flotilla, composed of seven vessels, left Newport Thursday, and all were in the harbor here at dark tonight.

New York, June 17.—For the second time within 48 hours a woman collopsed today of starvation in the streets of New York. This time the victim died. She said she was Rose Dasso, aged 51, homeless and friendless. She had slept in doorways and parks for a year she said, and with her last breath she told a policeman who knelt over her that food had not passed her lips for so long that she had forgotten the date and had all but forgotten the taste.

FLAYS DEMOCRATS IN HOUSE SPEECH

Payne Accuses Them of Abandoning Their Free Trade Principles.

CRITICISES FREE LIST BILL

Declares No Such Crude Measure Was Ever Brought Before House Before—Spoke During the Wool Debate.

Washington, June 17.—Accusing the Democrats of having abandoned their free trade principles in the framing of the wool tariff revision bill and declaring they are as much one-man ruled as they ever charged the Republicans with having been, Representative Sereno E. Payne, of New York, chairman of the committee which framed the Payne-Aldrich tariff made the principal speech in the wool debate today. Referring to the Farmers' Free List bill, he said:

"No such crude measure ever before was brought into this House by any committee. There is not a man on either side who can tell within $15,000,000 to $50,000,000 what difference it would make in the revenues."

In regard to the wool schedule of the Payne-Aldrich law, Mr. Payne said:

"I want to revise and equalize the woolen schedule and equalize the duties. But I was not able to carry it through."

He made a defense, however, of the bill as a whole.

Mr. Payne declared that the real reason the Democrats had not put raw wool on the free list was because "some gentlemen at home had said it would ruin them and their State if there was no duty paid on wool."

As to one-man power, he said it "makes no difference whether it is one man who enforces the rules in the Speaker's chair and who appears in the open of whether he pulls the wires that control the caucus. You are about as free as the white slaves we hear so much about."

"Did not the shoe manufacturers," Speaker Clark asked Mr. Payne, "promise us, when the tariff bill was in committee two years ago, that if we took the tariff off hides they would give us cheaper shoes? Yet I have seen no reduction in the price of shoes."

Mr. Clark referred to the United Shoe Machinery Company, which he said, was, in his opinion, as "tight a trust as there was in the country."

"Why has not the Attorney General prosecuted this trust?" he asked. "Did you refer to him the testimony given before the committee about the trust?"

"No," said Mr. Payne, "I am not a prosecuting officer."

Mr. Payne admitted that in his opinion the shoe machine manufacturing industry in this country is controlled by a trust.

Representatives Foster, of Illinois, and Mays, of Florida, spoke in favor of the bill.

With the intention of closing general debate on the bill the House held a night session tonight and Representatives favoring and opposing the bill were given a chance to speak. Chairman Underwood hopes to reach a vote in the measure next Tuesday or Wednesday.

SUMMON WHOLE ASSEMBLY.

Want All Illinois Solons to Testify at Lorimer Inquiry.

Washington, June 17.—The Lorimer Investigating Committee of the Senate today practically decided to summon as witnesses in the inquiry the entire membership of the Illinois Legislature, which elected Senator Lorimer. Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company, and former Governor Richard Yates, of Illinois, will be heard by the committee Tuesday.

Each will be questioned as to his knowledge of the collection and disposition of the $100,000 fund alleged to have been used in procuring the election of Mr. Lorimer. Mr. Yates also will be interrogated concerning his knowledge of the so-called "Jack pot" fund in the Illinois Legislature.

The decision to summon as witnesses practically all of the Illinois Legislators is accepted as proof that the committee proposes to examine every one having the slightest knowledge of the facts surrounding the election of Mr. Lorimer.

IMPORTANT DAY FOR HOUSE

Vote on Wool Tariff Revision and Consideration of Committee Discharge Calendar Monday—Pension Bill Next.

Washington, June 17.—Delay in the smooth progress of the Democratic legislative programme and the vote on the wool tariff revision bill will be occasioned Monday, because the Democrats of the House for the first time since the beginning of the special session today were unable to muster enough votes to support a motion to adjourn until Tuesday, and avoid consideration of the committee discharge calendar.

Ever since the opening of the session the Democrats have successfully dodged a peril in this calendar, the "dollar-a-day" pension bill, but they must face the issue Monday. Majority Leader Underwood said tonight that the caucus had bound the party not to extend the legislative programme into pension matters or anything else except the tariff and for that reason the Democrats would vote down motions to discharge the committees from consideration of bills with which the calendar has been filled by members of the Republican minority.

The only way the Democrats can avoid a vote on the pension bill Monday is by adjournment immediately after the House convenes. The Democratic whips have sent out an appeal to members who are out of town and by Monday Mr. Underwood hopes to have sufficient strength to enable him to run his steam roller over the Republican opposition.

Will Come Up Tuesday.

Washington, June 17.—General debate on the Underwood bill revising the wool tariff schedule of the Payne Aldrich law, closed tonight in the House of Representatives after ten days of discussion. The bill will be called up under the five-minute rule on Tuesday and will be placed upon its passage before adjournment of that day. There is little doubt that it will pass the House on a straight party vote.

Much of the time was consumed by Representative Payne, of New York, in denouncing the Underwood bill as "unintelligent" and defending the tariff law of 1909 which bears his name. A night session was held in order to complete the discussion inasmuch as the Democrats were forced because of a temporary lack of votes to devote Monday to consideration of the committee discharge calendar. Speeches in opposition to the bill were made tonight by Representatives Anderson, of Minnesota; French, of Idaho; James, of Massachusetts, and Dyer, of Missouri. Defendants of the measure were Representatives Martin of Colorado, and Cullop, of Indiana.

EDGAR S. COOKE ACQUITTED.

Charged With Embezzling $24,000 From Big Four Road.

Cincinnati, June 17.—"Not guilty," was the verdict returned here today by the jury trying the case of Edgar S. Cooke, of Chicago, who was charged with having embezzled $24,000 from the Big Four railroad. It took less than two hours for the jury to reach this decision, and thus ends what proved to be one of the most sensational and dramatic trials held in Cincinnati courts in years.

The trial was the last of three in connection with the $643,000 shortage of Charles L. Warriner, Cincinnati treasurer of the road, who is now serving a six year sentence in the Ohio penitentiary. The second trial was that of Mrs. Jeannette Stewart Ford "the woman in the case," and this trial the jury disagreed. She was charged with blackmail.

Probably the most touching incident of the Cooke trial followed directly after the announcement of the verdict. It was when Mrs. Cooke, wife of the accused man, rushed to the jury, eyes brimming with tears and thanked each of them personally.

STRIKE OF SEAMEN SPREADS RAPIDLY

Five Big Coasting Vessels of Morgan Line Deserted in New York.

SAILORS IN JOYOUS MOOD

Large Number Will Quit Unless Union's Demands Are Granted by Thursday—Strike Breakers Enlisting—Details.

New York, June 17.—Five big coasting vessels tug an anchor at moorings tonight, deserted by 500 of their seamen, stewards, firemen and stokers, as the result of the strike declared today against the Morgan Line by the International Seamen's Union.

Two of the number, the Momus with 99 passengers aboard, and El Cid, a freighter, which were scheduled to sail today for New Orleans, lie in midstream with picketing tugs manned by sailors hovering near to dissuade strike breakers from enlisting. The other three—the Antilles, El Rio and El Norte—are fast to their docks.

The men celebrated the progress of the strike in joyous mood. A thousand or more members of the union gathered in mass meeting near the river front late today in view of the anchored vessels and roared an announcement across the water to the silent ships that they were ready "to fight all Summer."

Officials of the line replied by sending out a boat load of recruits, but the picketing tugs intercepted the strike breakers and few reached their destination. There was no disorder, however.

General Secretary Griffen, of the Seamen's Union, tonight announced that other coastwise lines would be involved in the strike unless the union's demands were granted by next Thursday.

C. W. Junger, general manager of the Morgan Line, was still hopeful late tonight of getting the Momus under way by midnight, or before.

The crews of four Morgan Line tow boats also strike in sympathy with the union this afternoon.

The freighter El Sid weighed anchor and steamed down the bay with a crew of strike breakers late tonight. An official of the Morgan Line announced late tonight that a full complement of strike breakers had been employed for the Momus and that she would sail tonight.

The Strike in London.

London, Eng., June 17.—Both sides in the seamen's strike continue confident of victory. Havelock Wilson, secretary of the Seamen's Union, declared today that five thousand men were affected through the country He was confident that they would be shipped at the full union rate next Wednesday. The strike, he believed, already won in spite of the "bluff" of the ship owners.

On the other hand, the manager of the shipping federation said that the position of that organization had not changed.

STEEL INQUIRY HALTS.

To Await Return of Congressman Stanley—More Witnesses.

Washington, June 17.—Progress of the investigation of the United States Steel Corporation by the House Special Committee of Inquiry, will be retarded for ten days or more by the absence of Representative Stanley, chairman of the committee, who has been called to his home in Kentucky.

The next meeting of the committee will be held in Washington early in July. The committee also contemplates holding hearings in New York and among the witnesses who will be welcomed at these sessions will be J. Pierpont Morgan, when he returns from Europe, and former President Roosevelt, if he will consent to appear. Several expressions of the desire of the committee to hear the ex-President in regard to the absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron Company by the Steel Corporation already has been made, but no subpoenas had been ordered.

The only witness thus far examined who has not been affiliated with the Steel Corporation has been John W. Gates, and from time to time representatives of independent steel concerns and shippers will be called in to give information from outside instead of inside sources.

LONDON ABLAZE WITH COLOR

Metropolis Appears in Gala Attire on Eve of Coronation Week—Numerous Events Arranged—The Suffrage.

London, June 17.—On the eve of coronation week, London is ablaze with color. A few days ago the aspect of the streets suggested a city in splints, so vast was the area of bare timber. All this has been transformed with paint and hanging fabrics. The Metropolis now appears in extreme gala attire. From early morning until late at night the streets are crowded with a cosmopolitan throng.

Musical rehearsals are proceeding with a full choir and orchestra for the great ceremony in Westminster Abbey. No fewer than 450 voices compose the choir, drawn from every cathedral in England. With the final rehearsal on Monday at which their majesties are expected to be present, everything will be in readiness for Thursday's celebration. Early in the week the last of the royal delegates will arrive in London and the city will then contain as distinguished a company as ever gathered in any capital.

Although John Hays Hammond, special ambassador from the United States, is in London, he does not arrive officially until Monday.He will then go to Dover, where Lord Sandhurst, and staff on behalf of the king, and the staff of the American embassy, will welcome him. From Dover he will proceed to London where the Duke of Connaught will receive him officially.

The week's programme includes a dinner at Buckingham Palace, a ball at Stafford House, a State dinner at Buckingham Palace, a dinner by the Duke of Connaught and a dinner by Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary.

Suffragettes Take a Hand.

London, June 17.—Led by "General" Mrs. Drummond, astride a fine charger, a collossal coronation procession of suffragettes, estimated at from forty to sixty thousand women, marched through the streets of London tonight preparatory to the meeting at Albert Hall. The parade, which is said to have been the greatest procession of women in support of the suffrage movement the world has ever seen, marched in a five mile formation from the Victoria embankment which leads east from Westminster bridge and proceeded along the coronation route to Kensington.

Militant and non-militant suffragettes combined on this occasion, all question of taste was put aside, and Queens and those garbed to represent such characters as Boadicea, Catherine of Aragon, Mary Queen of Scots and Queen Victoria, rubbed shoulders with fellow workers in the suffrage cause from the sweat shops of White Chapel.

Every phase of social, professional and industrial life was represented, among the paraders being women of title, prominent actresses and collegians. Hundredh of historic characters from the early ages down to famous Victorians like Charlotte Bronte, Grace Darling, Jenny Lind and Mrs. Brown Dowling were portrayed. Seven hundred women who had been imprisoned for the cause, formed a striking feature of the pageant. They carried lances with banners and the suffragette colors. There were many Americans in the ranks. The international contingent was picturesque with the representatives of many continental and eastern nations in their native garb.

Immense crowds viewed the pageant. Some jeering cries of "jailbirds," were heard as the martyrs to the cause passed, but on the whole their reception was not so antagonistic as on previous occasions.

The leaders were jubilant at the success of the demonstrations, pointing out that for the first time the militant suffragettes and constitutional agitators had made common cause.

The meeting at Albert Hall was enthusiastic. Mrs. Pankhurst, who presided, elicited loud cheers by the declaration that the demonstration proved that victory was close at hand.

MAY STOP THE FIGHT.

Oklahoma Governor Against Morris-Flynn Battle.

Oklahoma City, June 17.—The fight between Carl Morris, Oklahoma's heavy-weight pugilistic hope, and Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, scheduled for July 4th, at Tulsa, will not take place in Oklahoma if Govenor Lee Cruce can prevent it. The governor declared today he would call out the militia if necessary to prevent the contest. He said Oklahoma has a law sufficiently definite to prevent the fight.

Kansas City, June 17.—Despite the threat of Governor Cruce to prevent the Flynn-Morris fight, Jim Flynn, who is training here, will continue his work.

"I think the fight will come off in Oklahoma, all right," said Flynn tonight. "It makes little difference to me, however, whether the fight is staged in Oklahoma or some other State.'

New York, June 17.—The statement of clearing house banks for the week shows that the banks hold $68,321,750 more than the requirements of the 25 per cent. rule. This is an increase of $29,481,550 in the proportionate cash reserve as compared with last week.

LOS ANGELES CASE TAKES NEW TURN

Detectives Burns and Hossick Indicted for Kidnapping at Indianapolis.

M'NAMARA FOR CONSPIRACY

Result of Marion County Grand Jury Investigation—Eight Indictments Were Returned—Charges Against Burns.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 17.—Detective W. J. Burns and James Hossick, a city detective, of Los Angeles, Cal., were indicted on charges of kidnapping John J. MacNamara, secretary of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers from this city, and McNamara was indicted on charges of conspiracy to dynamite, by the Marion county grand jury today.

In all the grand jury returned eight indictments, but named only the three men in the charges. Three of the indictments are against McNamara, who is in jail in Los Angeles. One indictment charges him with "conspiracy to dynamite industrial work of the Peoria & Pekin Union Railroad at Peoria, Ill.", and the other two are said to be for storing dynamite here.

The other five indictments are against Detective Burns, who is under $10,000 bail to the local grand jury, and Detective Hossick, of Los Angeles, who has not been arrested.

The grand jury reported that they found no evidence to sustain the charges of kidnapping against Walter Drew, of New York, counsel for the National Erectors' Association; J. A. G. Badorf, Drew's assistant; W. J. Ford, associate district attorney of Los Angeles county, Cal., and Frank P. Fox, of this city, the chauffeur who drove the car in which McNamara was taken from this city to Chicago, all of whom were arrested here and held to the grand jury for investigation.

TWO SHOT ON TRAIN.

Conductor and Deputy Sheriff Victims in Utah.

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 17.—Samuel Milton, of DuBois, Idaho, a deputy sheriff and William Kidd, of Pocatello, a train conductor, were shot and seriously wounded by two men on an Oregon Short Line passenger train near Beaver Canyon Idaho, today.

Milton boarded the train at DuBois and arrested two men suspected to having robbed a saloon at Monida on the Montana-Idaho line. In the smoking car he searched the men, taking two pistols from one.

He placed the weapons on a seat and started to handcuff the prisoners when the other grabbed a pistol and shot him three times. Kidd seized the man, who fired a bullet through the abdomen of the deputy sheriff. The prisoners held the passengers at bay and pulled the cord, signalling the engineer to stop.

When the train stopped the two men jumped off and escaped. Posses are searching for them. The wounded men were taken to Pocatello for treatment. Neither is expected to survive.

GAMES IN THE CITY LEAGUE

Bitter Dose Administered to Railroaders by Dr. Schulken—Boys Brigade Wrested Another by Timely Batting.

Boys' Brigade	3	4	.429
W. L. I.	3	4	.429
Y. M. C. A.	2	5	.286

The W. L. I. did it. From the beginning of the first game in the City League played at League Park yesterday it was evident to the most uninterested observer that the Coast Line was no longer maintaining its high stand, and the faithful few, but come to think of it, there was a much larger crowd than on last Saturday, who braved the threatening skies, enjoyed to its utmost the downfall of the mighty high—the erstwhile Invincibles.

Green "went to pieces" something that bodes badly for the Coast Line team any old time he is on the firing line, for like the fabled little girl, "when he's good he's very, very good, but when he's bad," oh well, you know the conclusion. Duls was put out of the game with a sprained ankle after pitching two innings of good ball for the Infantry and Schulken went in to get the honor, well deserved, of leading the Railroaders to an ignominious defeat.

Gore led off with a strike out, followed by Wright's quick out to "Bobby" Houston on a pop fly. Smith went to first on Pomp Green's mishandling of his bounder and promptly annexed second, but was stranded when Orrell hit one to Terry and retired the side.

That was the beginning of a fast and furious contest—baseball all the way throuh, and with some speed.

The expected pitchers' battle between Green and Duls was interrupted in the second inning when the latter and Smith, unfortunately went after Grainger's high fly, and Duls, although making the out was knocked to the ground in the collision and suffered a sprained knee. However, Schulken who was called in performed nobly and held his former team-mates well in hand.

The game started well for the Railroaders, who came to bat after retiring their opponents in quick order. Grainger went out on a grounder, Starritt hit a fast one to Shaw, who fumbled it and Staritt reached first safely, and stole second. Houston hit clean and Starritt scored. Terry came to the plate and Umpire Doscher called time, approached the plate and said:

"Ladies and gentlemen: I am not an orator, but I take pleasure in presenting to Mr. Terry, a check for $50, given by the Bull Durham Tobacco Company for hitting the Bull in left field three weeks ago." Charlie responded by cracking the first ball a blow that seemed at first to take the same route as his former lucky strike, but it went a little wide of the mark. However, it netted him two bases, Houston scoring on Rhodes' throw to the plate to cut him off. Terry went to third and Emmerson was safe on Gore's effort to put out Terry on "Skeet's" grounder. Bergen and King were out in succession.

In the third with one out for the W. L. I., Gore singled and Wright fanned. Smith singled advancing Gore to third, and taking second on the throw from center, Gore being on the farther corner. Gore scored and Smith moved up one when Orrell singled. Orrell immediately started for second and both runners scored when Emmerson missed a hard throw to second. Calder was hit and stole, but fell asleep in mid-field and gave Emerson a chance to redeem his former misplay.

In the sixth the Infantry clinched the game by adding another run on Graingers error at short, Calder's hit and Orrell's stolen base, and then Jupiter Pluvius took a hand to make it impossible for the Railroaders to pull out of the hole.

The W. L. I. showed up well all through the game. Two errors for the Soldiers, against three for the Coast Line; six hits against three, fast fielding and quick grasping of opportunities for shutting off scores, marked the improvement that the Soldiers exhibited.

The second game was called after the rain ceased, was another like they pulled off last Saturday, the Boys' Brigade winning after the game hadapparently been tied up for the Y. M. C. A., by a batting rally in the sixth and seventh innings. Shepherd and Quinney were the opposing slab artists, and both played well.

There was nothing doing that sounded like chalking up scores until the fourth, when the Y. M. C. A. got busy. Taylor ambled, and was advanced when Jones was hit. Both men advanced on a passed ball, and McCravy hit to center scoring them. Caraway went out on first and Newkirk struck out, McCravy being caught trying to annex third.

In the sixth, Watson started with a hit and went to second on first baseman's error. Quinny came up with a single and Watson scored. In trying to throw Watson out at plate, Quinny went to second. Hall went out to short. In trying to steal third, Quinny was put out on a close throw. Montgomery went out to short.

In the seventh Y. M. C. A. did nothing. First up for Brigade, Mintz, Struck out; Gore walked; Davis, C. struck out, and Burnett hit and Gore went to third on the single, Burnett going to second on the throw to third. Davis, L. came up with a single. Watson got another hit and Burnett scored, Davis going to third, Watson going to second on throw to third. Quinny went out to first.

BIG LAWN TENNIS MATCH.

Replete With Sensational Features. Miss Hotchkiss Wins.

Philadelphia, June 17.—In a match replete with sensational features, Miss Harel Hitchkiss, of Berkeley, Cal., this afternoon successfully defended her United States lawn tennis championship title against Miss Florence Sutton, of Los Angeles, Cal., in the challenge singles match of the National Tournament at the Philadelphia Cricket Club. Miss Sutton showed unexpected strength and it was only after a series of the most desperate rallies Miss Hotchkiss was able to win by two sets to one. When Miss Sutton overcame a lead of 4-2 against her in the first set by winning three straight games it was apparent for the first time in Philadelphia Miss Hotchkiss had to face an opponent worthy of her prowess. Eighteen games were necessary before Miss Hotchkiss captured the set.

BASEBALL AT CRONLY.

Walloped the Wilmington Team in an Exciting Game Yesterday.

The Cronly boys believe that a thing worth doing once is worth trying for a second time, and they punctuated their belief by wresting a hard fought game from the Wilmington aggregation yesterday afternoon, the score being four to two. They won a game from the same team several weeks ago, and the city boys came up this morning to try to get even, but failed dismally to stir up anything favorable throughout the game. The game from the beginning was a pitchers' battle, few errors being scored, and Lewis doing the twirling stunt for the locals won fame for himself. A feature of the game was a three-bagger by Clark in the last of the ninth inning which brought in two runs untying the score and winning the game by a spectacular finish.

JUDGE MOORE TAKES CUP.

Big Feature of International Horse Show at Olympia.

London, June 17.—Judge Moore, with the coach Rockmarge, and his famous team of bays captured the gold challenge cup valued at $500 and the cash prize of $200 in the coaching marathon, one of the biggest features of the International Horse Show at Olympia today. There was the keenest rivalry. A dozen teams started in the coaching marathon from Bushey park. Moore was the fifth to get away and arrived first at the ring. A. G. Vanderbilt, who has taken the prize on two previous occasions, had to be satisfied with fourth place today.

CAMPAIGN PUBLICITY BILL.

Acted Upon Favorably by Senate Committee Yesterday.

Washington, June 17.—The campaign publicity bill, with the amendments recommended by the Kenyon sub-committee, was acted upon favorably today by the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections. The bill already has passed the House. The amendments make the proposed law cover primaries as well as regular elections and apply to senators as well as representatives. The publicity requirement extends to individual candidates and is not confined to committees as in the House bill. Statements of expenses are required ten days before primaries, and in the case of senators, five days before the meetings of legislatures. Further statements are required 15 days after primaries or elections whether by popular vote or by a legislature.

The prohibition against corrupt practices is made to include all pledges of whatever character. The anti-pledge provision is regarded as an especial advance because it is contended that just as evil effects result from promises on the part of candidates as from the payment of money. An effort to limit the amount that candidates might be permitted to expend failed.

WOMAN'S WORK.

Interesting Report of Delegate to Recent Raleigh Conference.

The following is the report of the annual meeting of the "Home Department of Woman's Work" of the North Carolina Conference, as read by the delegate, Mrs. A. C. Craft, before the Auxiliary of Grace M. E. Church at a recent meeting:

The Home Department of Woman's Work of the North Carolina Conference met in its 20th annual session in Edenton Street M. E. church, Raleigh, May 8th, 1911, with 90 delegates present, representing many churches throughout the central and eastern sections of the State. The first session was held at 8:15 Monday evening with the president, Mrs. R. B. John, of Fayetteville, in the chair. This meeting was marked by much interest and all felt that the prospect was bright for one of the most profitable conferences in the history of the society. First on the programme was a short but very impressive devotional service, which was followed by short addresses of welcome. Rev. H. North welcomed the delegates on behalf of the Edenton Street Church; Mrs. B. F. Dixon, for the Foreign Missionary Society, and Mrs. E. C. Duncan, for the Home Mission Society. These addresses were all couched in terms which beautifully expressed the cordial greetings of the Raleigh people, and if we did not already feel welcome by the warm reception received at the depot, we all with one accord felt perfectly at home now. Miss Jessie Dout, of Jonesboro, representing the young people's work, made a graceful and happy response to these addresses, which was full of the real missionary spirit. After which a solo was rendered by Mrs. Horace Powell in a most artistic and pleasing manner.

It is hoped to have the General Secretary, Miss McDonnel, of Nashville, Tenn., with us to deliver the address of the evening, but a telegram was received to the effect that she could not be present. Mrs. John expressed the regrets of the society that Miss McDonnel could not be present and called on Mrs. R. O. Benton to read a paper on "The United States as a Base for Home Mission Work." This paper was full of interest, dealing with the duty of the American people to forward this problem. She spoke of the vast resources of the United States, the various peoples within its borders, and the great opportunity for doing home mission work among them, as well as sending out supplies to the needy in other lands.

Mrs. McDonnel was put down on the programme for the next number, but owing to her absence, Rev. A. D. Wilcox, of the Central Church, was requested to make a talk. This gentleman arose and commenting on the difficulty to help piece out a programme and promising his talk should not be long, took this text: "I have this against thee, that thou hast left thy first love."

He declared that he believed the first love of the Ephesus Church to have been the love of missions. The love of Christ is so wrapped up in the love for missions that it can't be separated. Love of Christ means love of man, love of man means love of missions. He declared every church to be dead that had lost its grip upon the missions spirit, because it is out of harmony with the great command to spread the knowledge of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. "Are we not the modern representatives of the Ephesus Church?" said he. "If we have lost our grip on missions we are." Mr. Wilcox said the church had but one job; to preach the Gospel. There are great opportunities in China, but equally great at home, in North Carolina, here in Raleigh. He attributed the great gains of the Southern Baptist Church to the fact that representatives of that denomination lost no opportunity to go into the out of the way places to spread the Gospel. The meeting closed with a benediction by Dr. North.

Tuesday morning session began at 9 o'clock. Devotional exercises were conducted by the president. After this came roll call and organization, when Hymn 408 was sung. President stated that this hymn had been adopted by the council and sung more than any other during the ten day session at St. Louis. Next came the president's message, which was replete with information and inspiration, dealing with the work accomplished in the past and the bright outlook for the future. Next reports of the vice presidents were received, showing very steady advancement in the local work, stewardship and children's work.

The meeting continued through the afternoon and evening and through the next day until all the Auxiliaries had been heard from, all showing satisfactory work. Later officers were elected and resolutions of thanks offered. Weldon was decided on as the place of meeting for another year, then closed one of the most profitable and delightful sessions of our annual conference. Every one retired feeling that too much could not be said in its praise of the hospitality and magnificent management of our Raleigh friends. Among social features of the occasion were a delicious luncheon served each day at the parsonage, to which all hostesses and guests were invited, a delightful reception given by the local auxiliary at the home of Mrs. Proctor, a pleasant trolley ride over beautiful Raleigh, a reception at our Orphanage, where our hearts were made glad by the bright faced little orphans in the happy home, watched over with such love by our dear kind hearted Mr. Cole.

Some of the work done by our Home Department of Woman's Work of the M. E. Church, South, and represented in this State by the North Carolina and Western North Carolina Conference societies, is as follows: Total membership, 101,663. Grand total total collected for the year, $595,889.16.

The money was expended in maintaining eleven schools, four in Cuba, two in our mountains, three industrial schools and two Oriental schools on the Pacific coast.

For sending boxes of supplies to needy ministers on the frontier and through the church to the amount of $39,172.06.

There were reported 30 mission boards which carried on work last year through 96 salaried workers, 72 of whom were trained. This work has been done at the Wesley Houses, institutional churches, Hospital and Deaconess Home, Co-operative Homes, Door-of-Hope, St. Mark's Hall, New Orleans, Mary Werlein Mission, New Orleans; Kingdom House of St. Louis, and Methodist Institute.

During the year 49 deaconesses were at work. Twenty new ones have presented themselves and were consecrated and will go to work this year.

We are very grateful that the Home Department of North Carolina Conference is keeping abreast of the other conferences in this great work of saving America.

THE "BATH TUB TRUST."

Argument Concluded in Cincinnati Court of Appeals Yesterday.

Richmond, Va., June 17.—The arguments in the so-called "bath tub trust," case were concluded in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, before Circuit Judges Goff and Pritchard and District Judge Rose, here today when Attorney Edwin P. Grosvenor, special assistant to the attorney general, further presented the government's case in a few brief remarks. His associate, United States Attorney John Philip Hill, spoke for the government until after 1 o'clock today, having followed the argument of counsel for the defense, who finished last evening.

The suit is an endeavor on the part of the Federal government to dissolve the alleged combination of 16 corporations which deal in enameled ware and the bill is based on the Sherman anti-trust act.

WEEK'S NEWS AT LUMBERTON

Shake Up In Town Affairs—Paving and Better Sanitary Conditions—Advance Paper Improvements—Personal Items.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Lumberton, N. C., June 17.—Not in some time has this hustling little city got such a move on it as for the past few days, and if the plans of the administration were carried out, this would soon be paradise on earth. Wednesday afternoon owners of real estate on Elm street from 6th street to 14th street were notified by the Chief of Police and city attorney that they would be required to stand the expense of paving the sidewalks in that territory.

We have heard of no objection though it will, hit some pretty hard. In 48 hours after this notice had been served, a health officer was busy serving notice on some of these same people and others, that they must remove their surface closets within ten days or be subject to a fine of $50 or 10 days in jail. We doubt if there is a property owner in Lumberton but who would be glad to have waterworks in their homes, but it is a well known fact that many are not finincially able to have the work done, and if the town authoritiss insist on enforcing this order it is going to work a hardship on several people. Some one can that it is to improve health conditions. It may do that, but no one can deny the fact that since the town has had waterworks there has been more typhoid fever in homes equipped with the waterworks than in any other part of town. No one will say that the town authorities do not mean well, but if they follow their law some people would be better off somewhere else. Some of the worst places in town seem to have been overlooked when the order was issued, or it may be that the work is to be done on the installment plan as the gate ordinance has been done. A few years ago an order was passed requiring all gates to be changed to open on the inside. Some of them were changed, some were removed altogether and some still swing across the sidewalks. It is to be hoped that the present administration does not mean to "oppress the poor." It would seem that several employed by the town have recently been given a raise in wages.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Lumberton Cotton Oil& Ginning Company held Thursday, instead of declaring a dividend it was found that the company lost nearly $11,000 during the season of 1910-11, whereas the season before the profits were about $9,000. At a meeting of the stockhoulers of the Rowland Oil Mill held yesterday it is said that the business showed a loss of 12 per cent. while the preceding year it made a profit of about 50 per cent.

Mr. W. S. Burton, of the Burton Bill Posting Co., Richmond, was a Lumberton visitor yesterday. Mr. Burton first visited Lumberton in 1882 at which time he was engaged with the bill posting force of S. H. Barrett's shows. This will be remembered by some of our people as having pitched tents on the west side of the river, near the Wessell home. Mr. Burton did not visit here again until four years ago, since which time he has been coming once a year.

A tramp printer hit town one day this week which is something out of the ordinary these times. When we were at the case in time gone by, if we did not see one or two a month we thought something was wrong. The visitor this week though was different from any we have yet met before. We do not know his nationality but he has not yet learned to use the English language so you can understand it with any degree of certainty. He put in a day here cleaning up "pi" and struck out walking headed for New York.

Dr. W. A. McPhaul spent Monday in Richmond where he went to secure plans and fixtures for the new front which he will soon put in his drug store. When the change is made this will be one of the prettiest and most up-to-date drug stores in this section. The store adjoining his, which is being fitted up for Dr. Parker, jeweler and optician, when completed, will be a credit to any city. Steady and substantial improvement is what our people are striving for.

The Robeson Advance is now fixed for business having installed a new press on which the paper will be printed in future. When the paper was established last Summer arrangements were made with the Freeman Printing Company to do the press work, but the paper has grown so that it was thought to be a piece of economy to put in a press. Editor Norment is leaving nothing undone to make his paper a success, and as a reward for his untiring efforts he should receive the liberal support of our people.

Col. H. B. Fuller, of Bennettsville, S. C., spent Monday in town, the guest of Mr. C. M. Miller, his brother. Col. Fuller was for several years a citizen of Lumberton and no man ever resided here who made and retained more friends than he. Over 25 years ago he established the live stock business of Fuller Bros. in Lumberton, and after going to Bennettsville several years ago still held an interest in the business, but later sold out to Mr. C. M. Fuller who still continues the business here. The Messrs. Fuller have sold more horses and mules in this section than any other two men who were ever engaged in the business here.

Messrs. R. E. Lee and "Cuny" James and Misses Ethel, Mamie and Nannie Harmond, of Laurinburg, were Lumberton visitors Thursday, coming over in an automobile.

Mrs. F. R. Lane, of Dillon, S. C., arrived yesterday to spend some time with her father, Mr. G. E. Rancke, and other relatives. Mrs. Lane was accompanied by Miss Alma Ashley, of Greensboro, who had been spending some time at Dillon.

Mrs. R. D. Caldwell and children who have been spending several days at Wrightsville, returned home yesterday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Irven Jenkins went to Fairmont Wednesday to visit relatives. Mrs. Jenkins was taken sick and could not return with Mr. Jenkins Thursday. A 'phone message from her physician yesterday stated that she would not be able to return home today as she had hoped to do.

Miss Leslie Proctor was the winner of the excursion ticket to Wilmington to be run by the Robesonian in the near future. Little Miss Janie K. Wishart was the lucky one Thursday night. Another ticket will be given away Tuesday night. Two will be given each week until the date of the excursion.

Mr. Jas. Kerr visited Kerr's station Wednesday and from there went to Wilmington, returning home yesterday evening.

We understand that the New York Comedy Company, owned by Messrs. Nathan Brothers, which showed here all of last week, will, after filling its engagement at Wadesboro next week, close for the present.

A game of baseball was played here yesterday afternoon between the Boardman and Lumberton teams and was attended by a large crowd. The game resulted 13 to 4 in favor of the home team. It seems to have been almost a one-sided affair.

Rev. Father Hayden, of Wilmington, will conduct services for the Catholic congregation at this place in the Opera House tomorrow morning at 7:30 At 3 o'clock in the afternoon he will deliver a lecture, his subject being "Among the Popular Objections of the Catholic Church." A circular being distributed inviting the public to attend the lecture says: "In this lecture Father Hayden will answer the charges recently made by a local minister of Lumberton against Catholics and Catholic doctrines. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Come and hear the other side. 'You shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.' Seats free, no charges. Come and hear the Truth."

Mr. W. W. Ward, a citizen of Howellsville, about 40 years of age, died yesterday evening after an illness of only a few days, he having been in town Monday. Mr. Ward is survived by a wife and four children. Mrs. Ward is a daughter of Mr. N. T. Andrews, postmaster at Fairmont. The remains were carried to Iona church this afternoon for interment.

Mr. Irven Jenkins put the first home-grown peaches of the season on the market this week. He sold one bushel to Mr. C. D. Redmond, of the parlor Grocery for $1.

Col. J. D. Lewis, of Whiteville, spent last night in town. Col. Lewis was for several years a resident of Lumberton, and has many friends who are always delighted to see him.

Shortly after 1 o'clock today the distressing announcement was made that Mr. John B. Pittman was dead. The news spread rapidly over town, and soon the whole community was wrapped in sorrow. Mr. Pittman in company with Messrs. Stephen McIntyre, and W. S. Britt, had gone to the country on a business trip, and while in the Fairmont section seven or eight miles from town, died very suddenly. The news of the sad death was immediately 'phoned to relatives and in a short time a number of friends went to accompany the remains home arriving late in the evening. Mr. Pittman was 56 years old, and one of the best known and most highly esteemed citizens of this section. He had not been in good health for some time, but had continued to discharge the duties of book-keeper for L. H. Caldwell, which position he had filled for many years. On several occasions recently he had remarked to friends that he would not be here long, but was ready to go. Mr. Pittman was married to Miss Amanda Floyd about 33 years ago, and had been a resident of Lumberton ever since. He is survived by his wife and four children, they being Mrs. R. T. Allen, Mr. W. Gerald Pittman and Misses Mattie Lee, and Maggie Pittman, who have the tenderest sympathy of this entire section. Mr. Pittman was a steward in Lumberton Methodist church in which capacity he will be greatly missed. Mr. Pittman was the soul of honor being a Christian gentleman, and citizen in all that words imply. The funeral will be conducted from the First Baptist church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by Rev. E. M. Hoyle, pastor of the Methodist church, and the remains will be laid to rest in the Norment cemetery, the stewards of the Methodist church acting as pall-bearers.

Good Liver Remedy Free

When you suffer from any form of indigestion it is always well to take something for the liver, as usually the trouble lies there. If you are bilious, have a bloaty feeling after eating, if you belch, if your skin is yellowish you may be sure it is liver trouble.

What you need is something to stir up the liver, to arouse the gastric juices so that they will aid in the digestion of your food. A very good remedy for this, and one highly recommended by those who have used it, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which you can obtain of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. But if you have any doubt about its merits, and would prefer to try it first, send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will promptly send you a free sample bottle.

Thousands of people first learned of this remarkable cure for stomach, liver and bowel troubles through a free sample. Mrs. Frank Lilly of Plainview, Ill., sent for one and it cured her and she is open in saying that she will never take pills or strong cathartics again, as Syrup Pepsin acts so mildly. Mr. W. L. Bryant, the Postmaster at Sardis, Tenn., says he will never be without it again. No sick person can afford to ignore a remedy so highly endorsed as this. It is good for all the family from infancy to old age, because it is mild, free from griping and yet promptly effective. Furthermore, results are absolutely guaranteed or money will be refunded.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 541 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

SILVER QUEEN MINING CO.

Mr. James Makes Statement in Reply to Whiteville Correspondent.

Editor the Morning Star, City:

Dear Sir:—I note in your correspondence from Whiteville in this morning's paper, an acount of C. E. James, from Pender county, North Carolina, who has traveled the South over, selling stocks to negroes in the Silver Queen Mining Company, which is truly a negro organization, and that he spent some time around Cerro Gordo, Boardman and Chadbourn, selling stock to darkeys in this company, with headquarters at Parral, Mexico. He sold the stocks at $1.00 a share, which is true, and several of the stockholders gave notes due June 1st, and the balance due next Fall. I note particularly that your correspondent says "he shrewdly selected colored people who owned their farms or other property and were responsible for their obligations," and further, "James states (and I now repeat) however, that in my opinion the property is a splendid proposition." In one paragraph of your correspondence he states that Booker Washington was a director in this company, and I wish to state that I have never made any such statement to any one, and that Booker Washington has nothing whatever to do with the company so far as I know. Your correspondent also states that "the famous or rather infamous Bishop Turner, of Georgia, was its president." He states further that "all went well until the first payment came due, when the victims began to smell a very large rat and refused to pay."

The public will please be advised that the Silver Queen Mining Company was organized in January, 1908, under the laws of Arizona and they make annual statements to the United States government, to the Internal Revenue Collector, Mr. Jackson, of Atlanta, Ga. The legal part of their business is guaranteed by the Arizona Charter Guarantee Company, of Phoenix, Ariz. Col. R. E. Daggs, of Phoenix, Ariz., is our attorney. I have numerous letters of recommendation from Court House officials, which any one is welcome to peruse. Thanking the press for their attention, Yours very truly,

(Signed) C. E. JAMES,
Millettsville, Ga.

P. S.—In one paragraph of your correspondent's letter it is stated that the "famous or rather infamous Bishop Turner, of Georgia, is its president," and I would like to add in this connection that Bishop Turner was the first colored man that Abraham Lincoln ever granted a commission to, and he is the only one of his race living today that has been so honored, and he is today Bishop of Louisiana and Mississippi, which is an honor to him. He has not only many colored friends but many friends among the white people as well. C. E. J.

TEACHER TRAINING.

Summer School Well Under Way at Greenville College.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greenville, N. C., June 17.—The Summer term of the East Carolina Teachers' Training School, which began June 6th and will continue for eight weeks, has an unusually strong factulty, the regular teachers being re-inforced by some of the most prominent educators of the country.

All of the subjects taught in the public schools of the State are being taught in this Summer term, and in addition to these are courses in Latin, Pedagogy, Chemistry, Public School Music, School Management and House hold Economics. The State adopted texts are used.

A special course in Administration and Supervision for school principals, county and city superintendents is being conducted by Dr. Geo. D. Strayer, of Columbia University, which is almost invaluable to those having the superintendency of teachers. In connection with this work is the observation of a proug of children taught by Miss Margaret Blow, one of the graduates of the school. Dr. Strayer takes his class of principals and superintendents into this class and practically demonstrates the organization, administration and supervision of a school. By this means the principals and superintendents get valuable ideas for instructing the teachers under them in organizing and directing their schools, as well as improving the class room work.

A series of lectures on topics of especial interest to teachers will also be given by distinguished educators Already Dr. J. T. Gibbs and Dr. Strayer have given most helpful lectures. These will be followed by others during the term.

The attendance at this Summer term has already reached two hundred and forty-eight, the largest number of students that have been here at any one time before, and others are registering almost daily. All the dormitories of the school are full, and homes in the town available to boarders are filled.

President R. H. Wright and the strong faculty united with him, are in this school doing a work for the teachers of Eastern North Carolina, the value of which can not be measured in dollars and cents. It will tell for years to come in the betterment of the public schools through more efficient teachers, and thus the greater educational uplift of all the people.

On Friday, June 30th, the anniversary of the breaking of ground for the erection of buildings for the school will be celebrated with appropriate exercises. Gov. W. W. Kitchin and other prominent men will be here to speak on that accasion.

Cronstadt, June 17.—The round of courtesies being finished, the United States battleship squadron will sail from here tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. Rear Admiral Badger gave a luncheon today, which was attended by representatives of the ministery of marine, the municipality, the American embassy and the Imperial River Yacht Club, of which the admiral was elected an honorary member.

S.S.S. FOR SCROFULA NATURE'S PERFECT CURE

Swollen glands about the neck, weak eyes, running sores and abscesses, pale, waxy complexions and frail, poorly developed systems, are the most usual ways in which Scrofula is manifested. In some cases the blood is so filled with the scrofulous germs that from birth the disease shows its presence. In other cases it is held in check during young, vigorous life, but when the system begins to weaken, especially after a spell of sickness, the disease will often manifest itself in some form. S. S. S. is Nature's perfect cure for Scrofula, made entirely of healthful roots, herbs and barks, a perfectly safe medicine for young or old. S. S. S. goes into the circulation, and drives out all scrofulous matter, and supplies the blood with the healthful, vigorous qualities it is in need of. In this way it builds up weak, delicate persons and makes them strong and healthy. S. S. S. cures Scrofula because it is the most perfect of all blood purifiers. The reason a woman would vote right is because she would be ashamed to vote like some men.

The Root amendment to the Canadian reciprocity bill indicates that the special interests do not lack for a strong rooter in the Senate.

In Boston there is a "School for Smiling," in which girls are taught the art of smiling. Even if they do learn to smile they will keep right on laughing in their sleeve at Boston guys who part their hair in the middle.

Harnett county will vote, July 29th, on a $100,000 bond issue for good roads. Harnett is in the list of eastern North Carolina's most fertile counties and good roads will show her up for what she is worth. Oh, you Pender!

It is now proposed for the United States to buy all the land in the Panama Canal zone to keep enemies from lurking around and menacing the great gateway. Probably some of our fellow citizens have already bought it in anticipation that Uncle Sam might some day get a buying notion.

A New York paper announces that Mary Garden has sailed for England to attend the coronation of King George, and that "she took with her 45 pairs of shoes and 106 pairs of stockings." No doubt she carried some other clothes, or else people will be led to infer that she has simply carried along her stage costume.

Don't be a cuckoo. A cuckoo won't won't build its own nest but lays its eggs in other bird's nests and lets them do its hatching. The main point is that the cuckoo won't do any nest building for itself but depends on the other fellow while it gets the benefit. No people should expect others to build up their town and make it a manufacturing center while they contribute hot air only.

The only thing left to a North Carolina Republican over which to raise a hue and cry is a plaintiff allegation that the Democrats in North Carolina have increased taxation by raising the assessment on property. All the Democrats are trying to do is to adjust the absurd differences between the tax value and the selling price of property so as to make it easier for taxpayers to explain when they come to face St. Peter.

We love recipriciay that is reciprocity, but we never could see any good reason why Congress should swallow any President's reciprocity without amending it, if either the Senate or the House sees proper. It is not only a function of Congress but the duty of representatives of the States and of the people to take a look into any one man's reciprocity. It might be the case that a President might not be wiser than the House and the Senate.

Says Col. Bryan's Commoner: "A Washington correspondent says free wool would have hurt Governor Harmon's chances. Is it possible that the chances of presidential candidates were considered as well as revenue interests?" The probability is that it would hurt any Democrat's chances—even Col. Bryan's—in the wool producing States. The wool issue is being overworked. Free wool would make it a little cheaper for those who consume it and those who consume it are the manufacturers. Those who wear clothing would like to see some of the tariff taken from woolen goods so the benefits would reach the ultimate consumer.

"GETTING" INDUSTRIES.

The Star is gratified to note that Wilmington is very much disposed to get industries as well as "invite" them. What Wilmington is after now, and must have, is manufacturing establishments and if they do not come to us we must go after them. When any industry meets Wilmington half way, Wilmington can afford to go the other half, and, as a matter of fact, the business men of Wilmington should not let slip any opportunity to secure every industry that has merit in it.

We are satisfied Wilmington is earnestly interested in getting industries, and as an evidence of it, it is gratifying to note from the Star's local columns yesterday that $30,000 of the necessary $50,000 is in sight for the establishment in this city of a branch plant of one of the largest metal products concerns in the North. This industry and the promoting company have been thoroughly investigated by the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, which has for some days been considering a proposition laid before it by Mr. George A. Simpson, of Pittsburgh.

It has been ascertained that the industry as a proposition is an attractive one and that the company back of it has met all the requirements as to integrity and responsibility. Investigations through financial and commercial channels have resulted in flattering reports, while inquiries as to the products manufactured have proven highly satisfactory. The parent industry itself has a large and successful plant and its business is an extensive and profitable one, many of its most satisfied patrons being in North Carolina, South Carolina and other Southern States. Some of the company's customers are among the largest contracting and consuming concerns of the North, and direct communications from many of these well known and reputable patrons furnish the highest testimonials to the merits of the products. The products they propose to manufacture are in great demand in the building and construction trades, and in view of the fact that this is a great building era in the South and that there will be an increasing demand for the various metal products of this industry, we are frank to say that we know of no manufacturing enterprise that would have finer prospects for complete sucess in Wilmington. The markets for the products are right in Wilmington and in every city and town in which there is a residence, business house or public building to be constructed. It is a class of business that is also "different", and as diversified industries are desirable for a city, we should say that the one proposed here would be altogether a great acquisition to the industries of Wilmington, already producing several million dollars of finished products that have established reputations in the South and North.

As might have been expected, the promoters of this enterprise have been favorably impressed with Wilmington's advantages and adaptabilities for manufacturing. Ocean, river and rail transportation offer unequalled distributive facilities for factory products and for the transportation of raw and crude material, and all the other requisites are here as well as an accessible territory covering the most progressive States of the South. The Carolinas head the list in Southern progress and from a geographical standpoint Wilmington is the logical location for industries which desire to distribute their products throughout these marvelously growing States. Without recounting all the obvious possibilities and potentialities for making Wilmington a logical manufacturing centre, we will say that even the map displays the advantages of this city. There is nothing to prevent manufacturers from easily recognizing the claims of Wilmington, and Mr. Simpson quickly observed them as soon as he struck our city.

After the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce had thoroughly investigated the integrity and standing of the promoters and the merit and stability of the enterprise, the president of one of our National banks submitted the proposition that a business man and an attorney be sent to investigate fully and examine the process of manufacture of the parent industry, with the understanding that if their report is favorable and they recommend the industry as an attractive investment, local interests will pay their expenses. Otherwise, the company shall bear all the expenses of this more business-like inquiry into the enterprise. This put it up to the company, which quickly answered that such an arrangement was entirely satisfactory to them. "Send on your committee" was their laconic and self-confident reply. This shifted it upon Wilmington to make the next move and so it is up to us to come across. Therefore, there is nothing to do but accept Wilmington's own proposition and get a move on us. This is business, and it is for Wilmington to "put up or shut up." We do not see any reason for having any cold feet on such a warm proposition.

STREET IMPROVEMENT.

We hope Wilmington people will drop enthusiastically into this spirit of street and sidewalk improvement that is being so well fostered by Alderman Parker Quince Moore, in charge of the Department of Streets and Wharves and Public Improvements. If there is one thing in which Wilmington is sadly deficient, it is in the matter of street and sidewalk improvements and Councilman Moore has set about his work in a manner that augurs nothing if not success with any sort of co-operation on the part of the property owners. It is a work in which all are interested. The little city of Newbern has recently set the example for the State and it has been found that with the right sort of co-operation from the property holders the work of improvement on a comprehensive scale is comparatively easy..

Visitors to the city are in no way more strikingly impressed than by the appearance of the streets and sidewalks of a town or village. A news item in yesterday's paper told of the purpose of the Council to shortly take up the matter of the improvement of Market street out to 17th, and Third street from Red Cross to Castle. Now it is up to the property owners along these streets to meet the City Council in that same progressive spirit which has made for better things in the past. A beginning has to be made and the Council seems to have been very happy in its selections for a beginning. With Front street modernly paved and good sidewalks from Red Cross to Castle street, this will indeed be a thoroughfare of which the city may be proud.

In this connection a communication signed "Business" in yesterday's paper is indeed timely. "Business" suggests that the magnificent wharf at foot of Princess street be thrown upon to the public, a recreation pier, so to speak. Capt. John W. Harper recently made a proposition to Council to take this property over, keep it in good repair, at all times open to the Fire Department for which it was originally intended, paying the city a fair rental, the same to be used as an excursion pier for the magnificent steamer Wilmington which every Summer season handles thousands and thousands of excursionists, both of home people and visitors. It is understood that Capt. Harper, if desired, would place on the wharf all necessary accommodations for the public to make it really a beauty spot for the city. The idea fits in nicely with the suggestion of "Business." The wharf with these necessary accommodations would provide a splendid retreat for people these hot Summer days and nights to go to the river front and enjoy the cooling breezes from the west and southwest. The average business man does not know how many people make a habit of going to the river front for a breath of pure air and a few moments of silent meditation. It is one of the first objective points of the visitors to the city. Yet how sadly are we lacking in an inviting place on the river front for those who like to wander down by the river and spend a few moments or get a view of Wilmington's commerce by water.

C. C. & O. PROPOSITION.

The rumors in the railroad world that are just now attracting much interest with reference to the Chesapeake & Ohio and the Seaboard Air Line's control of the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio, are decidedly important to the old Carolina Central territory, if true. Editor Wade Harris, of the Charlotte Chronicle, has the following to say further of the reported deal that is on foot:

"Should the Seaboard Air Line come into control jointly with the Chesapeake & Ohio of the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio the advantages to accrue to Charlotte would not be altogether on the freight side of the ledger. One thing of immense consequence would be the opening of a direct passenger line to Cincinnati. The opening of this line through Charlotte to Wilmington was one of the original intentions of the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio, and for a time it did run trains between Johnson City and Wilmington, but there arose some disagreement between the company and the Seaboard and the service was discontinued. The Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio at once proceeded to build a line from Bostic to Spartanburg and to raise the rate on coal for that fortunate town. The direct route from Charlotte to Cincinnati has been long a dream of this city. Perhaps that dream is at last to be realized.

Says the St. Louis Globe Democrat (Rep.) "He was the main ventricle of Iowa's heart when he stood four square to the many winds that blew against the cornerstone of his party's temple." Probably that refers to one of the Iowa Senators who simply imagined that somebody was kicking so strenuously that the cornerstone was in danger. We are satisfied, however, that any Kansas Senator could have done just as well by "standing four squares to the many winds" and letting them blow through his whiskers.

It is said "President Taft will stake his re-nomination and re-election on reciprocity." Owing to the President's size, we hate to see him take chances on skating on such thin ice. His Republican friends do not seem to be helping to make his main chance a success.

CURRENT COMMENT.

In an article in Southern Good Roads, Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, of North Carolina, says: "It is a very safe estimate to state that many of the Southern States would save from $400,000 to $600,000 a year in their public road work if the money were spent under the supervision of State highway engineers." And they would get so much more for their money.—Columbua State.

Thunder storms throughout the State have been unusually frequent and destructive the past ten days. A number of people have been killed while the destruction of live stock has been heavy. The most remarkable casualty on record is reported from the farm of Mr. H. Clay Grubb, when 14 cows were killed simultaneously. In nearly every instance in which cattle were killed, they were standing under trees, or were in contact with barbed wire fences.—Charlotte Chronicle.

We rather like the outspoken frankness of the High Point Enterprise. "If it should happen," Editor Farriss says, "that we did not support Senator Simmons for re-election it would not be on account of his vote on the Lorimer matter nor his vote on reciprocity. In both of these matters we believe he acted upon his conscience and judgment and no man could perform a public service under higher or saner conditions. If he made mistakes, according to the judgment of some, he has done nothing more than other Senators and even some from North Carolina. Before any man is condemned for an act we should first ascertain at least the source and basis of which such a condemnatory statute, written or unwritten. Maybe Senator Simmons is right after all in some of the things of which as yet some have not seen the wisdom." At any rate, his enemies are not making as much capital out of it as they thought they could make.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Vaccination Against Typhoid.

The Health Department of Baltimore has been instructed by the City Council of that city to undertake an investigation of the matter of vaccination against typhoid fever and the advisability of its general adoption.

The move was suggested, as will be surmised by those who have been following such matters, by the remarkable results which have attended the use of typhoid vaccine in the United States army, especially among the troops now gathered along the Texas border. There only one case of typhoid fever has developed we are told, and it a mild one, some 18,000 officers and men having been vaccinated. The Baltimore Sun makes the statement that of 14,000 men in the United States army to whom the vaccine was adminstered in 1910, only six developed typhoid fever, none of whom died; whereas, among the soldiers not so vaccinated there were 418 cases of typhoid and 32 deaths.

A number of Baltimore physicians, while not advocating compulsory vaccination, think that it would be a wise move to arrange for general vaccination of those desiring to secure immunity in this way. It is stated that Mr. Stimson, Secretary of War, has had himself vaccinated and that many of the physicians and nurses at Baltimore hospitals have done so also, none of them having developed the disease.

The use of typhoid vaccine is still in the experimental stage, but it is expected that its adoption will become general before a great while. Unlike vaccination against smallpox, the reaction, both local and general, is slight and, while occasionally attended by some discomfort, lasting a few hours, is never dangerous.—Charleston News and Courier.

THE CENTRAL HIGHWAY.

Scout Party at Raleigh—Enthusiastic Addresses Made.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., June 17.—The completion of the run of the scout party of the Central Highway over the entire proposed route, Morehead and Beaufort to Asheville and the Tennessee line, was fittingly celebrated here today with the members of the party as guests of honor, these here being Chairman H. B. Varner, of the Central Highway Board of Trustees; Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, State Geologist and secretary of the North Carolina Good Roads Association, and J. A. Wellons, of Smithfield, trustee for Johnston county, for central highway promotion.

There was an enthusiastic meeting in the interest of good roads in the court house at noon and then at 2 o'clock there was a big barbecue and Brunswick stew out at the Fair Grounds that was a great success. There were a number of speeches out there, principal among which was one by James H. Pou, who enjoys the distinction of having launched the movement for the Central Highway. He drew the bill and it was his advice that finally brought about the legislative enactment that gives every assurance now under the strenuous leadership of Chairman Varner and the other trustees, of affording a splendid highway through the State that will have its influence in spreading the good roads work effectively throughout the State.

BRYAN IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Admits Underwood Bill Is Improvement Over Present Law.

Laurens, S. C., June 17.—Despite the fact that he has criticised the Underwood bill as it applied to schedule K, as a "compromise of Democratic principles," William J. Bryan tonight admitted that it is an improvement over the present law. When asked to comment on the Underwood measure, Mr. Bryan gave the following written reply:

"The Underwood bill covering Schedule K, is a great improvement over the present law and is much better than we could expect from a Republican Congress, but it would have been still better if it had put wool on the free list and made a still greater reduction on woolens."

Farmer Says Thousand-Year-Old Seed Has Germinated.

From it eight stalks of wheat have grown and this promises a variety of wheat.

Feet So Sore Couldn't Walk Down Stairs—

TIZ Cured Her Quick.

If you have sore feet, tired feet, sweaty feet, lame feet, tender feet, smelly feet, corns, callouses or bunions, read what happened to Mrs. Crockett, of Jeffersonville. TIZ DID IT. Mr. Crockett says: "After the second treatment she walked downstairs one foot at a time. She has not been able to walk downstairs before in past five years, except by stepping down on each step with one foot at a time. This is remarkable. Send five more boxes."

No matter what ails your feet or what under heaven you have used without getting relief, just use TIZ. It's different. It acts right off. It cures sore feet to stay cured. It's the only foot remedy ever made which acts on the principle of drawing out all the poisonous exudations which cause sore feet. Powders and other remedies merely clog up the pores. TIZ cleans them out and keeps them clean. You will feel better the first time it's used. Use it a week and you can forget you ever had sore feet. There is nothing on earth that can compare with it. TIZ is for sale at all druggists, 25c per box, or direct, if you wish, from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

SUNDAY AT THE BEACHES

Hundreds Expected to Visit the Resorts Today—Arrival of Visitors Yesterday—Excursion Parties Today.

If the weather is favorable, and the present indications are that it will be, Wrightsville and Carolina beaches will be thronged today by hundreds of pleasure seekers from the city and section as well as by scores of visitors from a distance who are at the resorts for the season, or a sojourn of some days. Both the Seashore and the Oceanic at Wrightsville Beach have a large number of guests for the week-end and are expecting others to arrive today.

The hotels are better prepared to accommodate the crowds than ever before and the service is the best ever given at the popular resort. It is said by those in position to know whereof they speak that the fare and service of the Seashore and Oceanic are second to no resort hotel in the South, there even being an appreciable improvement over last season.

It is expected that there will be several hundred visitors on the beaches today from neighboring towns, as the Coast Line Sunday excursion rate is in effect. Many townspeople will be found headed for one of the beaches this morning, hundreds will go in the afternoon and evening. The steamer Wilmington will make the usual three trips to the pier and return, and several hundred will likely visit Carolina Beach during the day.

There will be several concerts at Wrightsville Beach today. The concerts at Lumina in the afternoon and evening will draw large crowds as usual, and there will also be large crowds at the hotel concerts. At the Oceanic Hotel the Post Artillery Band, of Fort Caswell, will give concerts this morning and afternoon. The band arrived yesterday and the members are guests over Sunday of the hotel. The concerts at Lumina are attracting as large crowds to the pavilion as ever. The music furnished on these occasions is of a high order, and the concerts are much enjoyed by all who attend. Mr. Kneisel uses great care in the arrangement of the programmes and endeavors to make selections that will please the public. For the concerts today the programmes contain a number of very fine pieces. At the afternoon concert will be rendered, "The Blue Danube" waltz, which always is a popular number, the overture, "Stradella," homestead melodies and a number of other fine selections. The evening programme contains "The Washington Grays," echoes from the Metropolitan Opera House, selections from the "Spring Maid," a selection of "Campus Ditties."

The afternoon concert begins at 4 o'clock and the evening concert at 8:30 o'clock.

Another one of those delightful affairs, a souvenir dance for children, will be given at Lumina tomorrow night. So popular was the last one, pulled off a week ago, that the management has had many requests from the children for another dance, specially for them. In order to give the children a little longer time, without encroaching on the time of the older people, the dancing will begin at 8 o'clock, instead of at 8:30 as usual. As the children will have the floor until 9 'clock, this arrangement will give them an hour to enjoy themselves undisturbed before they will have to give way to the grown-ups. There is no doubt that the event tomorrow night will prove as popular as the last one, and if so, there will be a large and happy crowd on hand for the occasion.

On the following night, Tuesday, a regular souvenir dance will be given. This will be a decorated dance, the first of the season. The dance on this night will be called a parasol dance, the entire ball room being decorated with parasols, and parasols being given as souvenirs. The decorations at Lumina have always been admired for their beauty and elegance, and there is no doubt that the same high standard of excellence will be maintained on this occasion.

The public will be glad to learn that Prof. Kneisel will take personal charge of the orchestra that furnishes the music for dancing, beginning with Monday night. Up to this time Mr. Kneisel has only led the orchestra at the Sunday concerts.

PUT OFF TRAIN, MAY SUE.

Passenger Could Not Find Ticket Quick Enough for Conductor.

Claiming that he was put off a passenger train at Dudley, a small station, just this side of Goldsboro late Friday night for no other reason than that he was a little slow in getting his ticket out of his pocket, Mr. H. L. West consulted L. Clayton Grant, Esq., yesterday with a view of bringing a damage suit against the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company. Mr. West said that not only was the conductor so impatient that he would not wait for him to get his ticket out, but that he was kicked from the train by the negro porter, whom the conductor, he said, had called in to assist him in ejecting the passenger. Mr. West showed the attorney a ticket from Newbern to Wilmington dated June 16th. He started his trip at Newbern and went to Goldsboro and should have come on through to Wilmington Friday night, he said, had he not been put off the train. He stated to his attorney that owing to the lateness of the hour he had a hard time finding a place to stay for the night at Dudley. Mr. Grant will take up the matter with the Coast Line people before bringing an action.

THE NEW INDUSTRY.

Chamber of Commerce Issues Statement as to Metal Products.

The Chamber of Commerce wishes to announce that through their Manufacturing and New Enterprises Committee, which is composed of well known and representative men of Wilmington, they have made a thorough investigation of the proposition presented by George A. Simpson before that body to establish a Metal Products Manufacturing plant in Wilmington, as a local or subsidiary company to the interests he represents in the North, and that the result of their investigations have been such that they recommend the investment to the investing public of Wilmington.

That in this connection a suggestion was offered at the last meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, by the president of one of our National banks, that a lawyer and a business man be sent to Canton as a committee to investigate the parent company right at home. That if the report of this committee was favorable the expense should be borne by The Carolina Metal Products Company, which is the local concern, but if it was unfavorable, the parent company should stand the expense. This proposition was promptly accepted by the parent company by telegraph, with the request that the committee be sent without delay.

Such being the case, the Chamber of Commerce wishes to announce that a stock subscription list will be opened to all those who are interested in securing this industry for Wilmington to the extent of subscribing for some of the stock. This they can do with the understanding that their subscription is not binding unless the committee which visits Canton makes a favorable report. The list now includes a number of names and those wishing to add to it should call at the Chamber of Commerce on Monday. Immediately on the completion of the subscription for the capital stock, a local committee will be appointed, and started to Canton for the purpose above outlined.

TO OPEN NEW GARAGE.

Mr. Douglass Secures Splendid Quarters on North Third Street.

Mr. L. B. Douglass, the expert auto repair man who came to Wilmington some months ago from some of the largest automobile plants in New York and the North and who has lately been conducting with much success the Wilmington Auto Repair Co., at No. 15 Dock street, has leased the handsome brick building recently erected by Mr. D. L. Gore at Nos. 5 to 7 North Third street, between Market and Princess, and on July 1st, will open there an up-to-date garage and repair shop, catering to the general public, both as to repairs and supplies, and in storage, both "dead" and "live". The location is ideal and the quarters are very suitable for the purposes of an up-to-date garage. All the necessary equipment will be installed in addition to the facilities in his present shop and Mr. Douglass will have associated with him Mr. Thomas Torpy, for so many years the master mechanic in the Coast Line shops in this city, and he will look after the patrons of the garage exclusively. Mr. Douglass is one of the most proficient auto repair men ever brought to the South and the firm name at the new location will be "The Wilmington Auto Repair and Storage Company." Mr. Douglass has added to his equipment a towing car of large power and will be prepared to answer all calls of distress from the road or elsewhere, his shop number being 741 and his residence number for night or Sunday calls being 1751.

Mr. Douglass asks his friends and patrons to remember that after July 1st he will be at the new location where he will be delighted to serve them.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Past Week One of Activities—Yoke Fellows' Appointments.

The past week has been an active one in every department of the Y. M. C. A. The religious work of the association has been especially gratifying. All regular appointments have been filled and special services held in East Wilmington four nights. Some 30 requests for prayer and several professions marked the success of the meetings.

The physical department has been the most popular department in the building. The baths and the swimming pool are being used more than any previous week in the association's history. Indoor baseball has also been more than interesting and several good games have been played by the boys and Juniors.

The reading room and the game room have come in for their share of patronage and the change that was made in the Spring was a good one for the reading room is cooler and the pool tables have more space and are cooler too. The most encouraging feature in the work is the large number of new men and boys who are seeking the benefits that the association has to offer them.

The Yoke Fellow's appointments for today are as follows. City prison, 10 A. M., H. E. O'Keefe; county home, J. B. Huntington and H. E. O'Keefe; Castle Haynes, 11 A. M., J. T Armstrong; Greenville Sound, 8 P. M., W. W. Koch and L. L. Corbett; Wrightsboro Union Sunday School, 8 P. M., V. Hall and B. A. Thees.

FINE ARTESIAN WELL.

Mr. J. D. Lowry Completes Contract for Coca-Cola Works.

Mr. J. D. Lowry, the well-known artesian well contractor, has recently completed another fine artesian well for the Coca-Cola Bottling Works, Inc., of this city. This well supplies the Coca-Cola plant with 10,000 gallons of pure water per day, which is used in the manufacture of the products of the company and the washing of all bottles. The water has been analyzed by the State Chemist and is pronounced thoroughly safe drinking water.

Purchases New Oven.

An order has been placed by Mr. W. T. Farris for a very fine patent steam baker's oven to be installed in his new building on South Front street. This will be one of the largest and most up-to-date ovens in the South. Its baking capacity is about 6,000 loaves of bread per day.

RETURNS FROM BIG MEETING

Col. Walker Taylor Back From Insurance Convention in Winston-Salem—Elected to High K. of P. Office.

Col. Walker Taylor, the well-known fire insurance man, returned yesterday morning from Winston-Salem, where he attended and took quite a prominent part in the 15th annual convention of the North Carolina Fire Underwriters' Association, which was the best meeting from every standpoint in the history of the organization. The attendance was large and the interest surpassed that ever before shown by the insurance men at a similar gathering.

There were a number of fine addresses and at one of the sessions Col. Taylor was one of the speakers, his subject being "Our Association and How to Strengthen It." A correspondent of the State press says: "Colonel Taylor made some valuable suggestions to bettering and enlarging the association, saying he hoped to see the day when the association would have 1,000 members." Colonel Taylor is one of the leading members of the association and he took a prominent part in the convention and was given important committee assignments as usual. Colonel Taylor was astonished at the remarkable growth of Winston-Salem since his last visit ten years ago. He said that the city is going forward by leaps and bounds and is unquestionably one of the best cities in North Carolina.

His attendance upon the convention of insurance men prevented Colonel Taylor from being present at the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, Knights of Pythias, which was held at Asheville about the same time. The Pythians took advantage of Colonel Taylor's absence and elected him Vice Grand Chancellor and following the usual custom he will be elected Grand Chancellor Commander next year. For ten years or more the Pythians throughout North Carolina have besought Colonel Taylor to permit them to elect him Vice Grand Chancellor in order that they could elevate him to the highest office in the gift of the order in this State, because they felt that he is one of the few men in North Carolina capable of filling the high position. He declined and would not allow his name to be used in connection with the office. He has always been present at the meeting of the Council and succeeded in silencing any movement which was started to nominate and elect him. But this time he was not on hand to defend himself, and there were present not only his strong friends from Wilmington but from all parts of the State. They determined to elect him to the office and place him in position to head the order next year. Many leading members of the Grand Lodge sent telegrams to Colonel Taylor urging him to accept the office and pointing out that one year hence just such a man as he will be needed for the office of Grand Chancellor. These telegrams are insistent in tone and it is thought probable that Colonel Taylor will accept, though in reply to a question he stated yesterday afternoon that he had not fully made up his mind, but would give the matter careful consideration before giving the Grand Lodge an answer. Should Colonel Taylor accept the office, Mr. C. C. McLean, of Greensboro, the newly elected Chancellor Commander, and other Grand Lodge officers will come here probably next week to formally induct him into the office, as he was not present when the other officers were installed at the Asheville meeting. Wilmington Pythians join the other Pythians throughout the State in expressing the hope that Colonel Taylor will accept the office and also that he will head the Lodge when the term of the present Chancellor Commander expires.

CREATES MORE EXCITEMENT.

Mary Smith Does Marathon With Officers in Close Pursuit.

Mary Smith, the dusky damsel, who lectured Justice Bornemann Friday and resisted Deputy Sheriff Kelly when he was taking her to jail a little later, much to the amusement of a number of spectators, was in the limelight again yesterday, when she did a marathon along Magistrate's Row, with Deputy Howe and Jailer Branch in hot pursuit. The woman was brought to Justice Bornemann's office at 9 o'clock for trial. Her conduct was a repetition of that of the day before and it led the magistrate to remand her to jail until Monday at 1 P. M., when an investigation into her mental condition will be held by Clerk of the Superior Court, Col. John D. Taylor. As the officers were taking her back to the jail she broke away from them and hied herself swiftly down Princess street. By exerting themselves Messrs. Branch and Howe managed to overtake her, and despite her struggles Mary was soon a guest of the county once more.

Friday afternoon in the jail the woman broke out her window, tied sundry knots in a hammock and broke up the water pipe in the corrider outside her cell. Her actions have led the officers to believe that she is either crazy or suffering from the effects of a prolonged spree.

FIRST EXCURSION OF SEASON.

ROBBERS BEGIN WORK EARLY

Three Residences Burglarized Early Yesterday Morning—In Search of Money and Jewelry; Nothing Else Wanted.

As is usually the case at this season of the year when people sleep with their room doors open and windows and blinds unfastened, robbers are on their rounds of the residential section of the city, the police having received report of several burglaries the past week, three of which were committed early yesterday morning. Though it is a little early for the Summer burglar to begin his operations, the method employed at all the places so far reported to the police gives unmistakable evidence that it is he who is again terrorrizing the community.

The robber or robbers care only for money or jewelry; nothing else in the house visited is molested. His method is to slip in the house through a window left up and enter the sleeping apartments of the male members of the house, take therefrom their trousers and coats and carry the clothing outside, where they can rifle the pockets without so much danger of being disturbed. The clothing is usually left in the yard or on the porch when the pockets have been searched. The burglar will visit also the rooms of the lady members of the family and make a desperate effort to secure the jewelry case before his presence has been discovered.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning the police received a telephone message that burglars had visited the homes of Mr. J. W. Boney, No. 810 Orange street, and Mr. D. J. Fitchett, No. 812 Orange street, and asked that an officer be sent up. Sergeant E. J. Grimsley answered the call. The residence of Mr. Boney was probably the first entered. The robber or robbers gained entrance to the house through a window on the west side of the house, pulling the blinds open. The intruders proceeded to the second story and entered the rooms of two boarders, Mr. A. M. King and a Mr. Pritchett. The trousers of the young men were taken out of the house and $3 and a bank book were missing from one. Mr. King's trousers were found in the yard yesterday morning and also a purse was found in the yard of Mr. James H. Taylor, Jr., who lives next door to Mr. Boney's residence. Foot prints were also discovered beneath the windows of Mr. Taylor's residence. Mr. Boney was sleeping down stairs on a lounge. The robbers also went through his trousers, securing 15 cents in money and an ice ticket. Mr. Boney was up about a half hour before the robbery was discovered and there was no sign at that time of a visit from robbers. The discovery that the house had been robbed was made by a daughter of Mr. Boney who noticed the lattice door in the rear open and a few minutes found that the rooms had been ransacked.

The robbers evidently went from Mr. Boney's house to Mr. D. J. Fitchett's next door, where they effected entrance through a kitchen window on the south side of the house. The house was ransacked and a pair of trousers belonging to Mr. James Fitchett were taken out into the yard, where they were left. There was nothing else missing from the house.

Evidently the burglars were frightened away from St. James' Square before they could carry out what was probably their plan to rob the residence of Mr. Taylor, and they then came on down Orange street to Front street, where they entered the home of Mrs. E. T. Mason, who conducts a large boarding house. The police received a call shortly after 4 o'clock to Mrs. Mason's. An officer was sent to investigate. He found that the same method was employed here as was so successfully used at the places further up on Orange treet. The intruders very likely gained entrance to the building through the stairway in the rear. Going to the second floor the robbers visited the room of every roomer in the house whose door was unbolted and took the treasure of each. He then went to the third floor and took the trousers of the lone roomer on that floor. All the trousers were then taken by the robbers to the rear porch on the first floor, where the pockets were rifled. The robbers took everything of value in the pockets, knives, etc., and got all told only $1.50 in money. The robbery was not discovered until 4 o'clock yesterday morning. Mrs. Mason awakened at that hour and went out on the rear porch and found the young men's clothes scattered about. She gave the alarm and called the police.

It was learned yesterday that three cottages on Wrightsville Beach were entered last week, but it was not learned whether or not anything was stolen. Sheriff Cowan's office was not apprised of the robberies on the beach until yesterday, but he has already begun an investigation which may lead to the apprehension of the guilty party or parties.

CONCERT TOMORROW NIGHT.

The Singing Class of the Oxford Orphanage will give one of its delightful concerts in the Academy of Music tomorrow evening, appearing here under the auspices of the three local Masonic lodges. The children gave a concert at Southport last night and are spending today at that pleasant place, the guest of Pythagoras Lodge, and will arrive in Wilmington tomorrow. In the afternoon the children will be entertained at the Grand Theatre, through the courtesy of the proprietor, Mr. J. M. Solky, and the orchestra will be on duty all the afternoon.

The class has given concerts in Wilmington before and never fails to have a large and well pleased audience. Tomorrow night will be no exception, judging by the number of tickets already sold by the boys and girls contesting for the prizes. The class this year is composed of 14 children and they render a most attractive programme. The concert is fully worth the price of admission and the effort of those who help to prepare the children for the entertainments is to have something brighter and better each year. The proceeds from the entertainments go to the orphanage, which is one of the best known and greatest institutions of the kind in the State.

PRETTY EVENING WEDDING AT CHADBOURN WEDNESDAY

Chadbourn, N. C., June 17.—Wednesday evening in the Baptist church the people of Cahdbourn witnessed one of the prettiest weddings ever solemnized here when Mr. S. William Johnston claimed as his bride Miss Mary Goldie Wilkes, eldest daughter of Mrs. John R. Wilkes. The church was filled with admiring friends and relatives and beautiful in its decoration of ferns and lilies. Prior to the wedding Mrs. J. B. Bardin rendered as a prelude "Con Amore" and "Come Often Dreams" was delightfully sung by a trio composed of Messrs. R. E. L. Brown, C. E. Vale and M. A. Fryer, while Miss Jessie Williams sang sweetly "I Love Thee Truly." After the bridal chorus from Lohengrin by a quartette composed of Messrs. Brown, Vale, Mrs. Harnly and Miss Jessie Williams, Mrs. Bardin played the processional and the bridal party entered, Rev. F. T. Wooten taking his place at the altar and the bridal party entering in the following order: Miss Georgia Hodges, Florence, S. C., bridesmaid, with Mr. H. B. Wilkes, brother of the bride; Miss Inez Grace Wilkes, sister of the bride, maid of honor, and Dr. Claude F. Sheiton; Miss May Dee Wooten with Mr. Wade Lewis, of Augusta, Ga.; little Misses Maude Moors and Dorothy Miller, flower girls; then the dame of honor, Mrs. William Sprott, and the stately bride. These were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. F. M. Hughes, of Chicago. The impressive ring service was used while "O, Promise Me," was softly played by Mrs. B. H. Harnly. Following the ceremony Mendelssohn's was played as a recessional and the party took autos to the home of the bride's mother where a reception was given and the bride and groom left at 9:30 for Wilmington whence they took their departure for an extended tour in the West, after which they will be at home in Chicago.

The bride was beautiful in a costume of white Duchess satin en train with pearl trimmings, her veil being caught up with Lilies of the Valley while she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses, Lilies of the Valley and maiden hair ferns. Her ornament was a handsome cameo, gift of the groom. The bride's traveling suit was tan with brown trimmings. The dame of honor wore pink messaline en train with pearls and black picture hat, carrying a shower bouquet of pink sweet peas. The maid of honor wore blue messaline and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and ferns. The bridesmaids were lovely in blue and pink messaline en train, carrying shower bouquets of sweet peas. The gentlemen wore the conventional evening dress.

The ladies of the bridal party received from the bride beautiful bar pins, while the gentlemen received as favors from the groom pretty tie pins. Mr. Johnston is a successful young business man and has spent the past six months here, having made many friends. The bride is one of Chadbourn's most charming young women and is universally loved and admired. A teacher in the schools, a worker in the Sunday School, dutiful at home, she will be missed by all.

CHILD TAKES POISON.

Tragic Death of Infant Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Walton.

The friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Walton will be deeply shocked to learn of the tragic death of their little daughter, Melissa, aged nine months, which occurred yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, after the child had eaten a box of strychnine, quinine and iron tablets.

The little one had been left alone for a few moments, and in some manner she managed to get the bottom compartment of a washstand open. Finding the tablets therein, childlike, she put them in her mouth. One or two of the tablets would probably not have proved fatal, but the child ate the whole contents of the box and death resulted in a short while.

Coming at a time when her father is seriously ill, the circumstances of the baby's death are particularly sad. It was to minister to the sick man that the mother had left the child.

The funeral will be from the home, No. 712 South Eighth street, this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. H. E. Mattocks, assisted by Rev. J. P. King.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton have the deepest sympathy of the entire community in their sudden and tragic bereavement.

NEGRO THIEF CAPTURED.

Stole, Hats, Neckties and Handkerchiefs from Gaylord's Store.

Nelson Green, colored, was arrested last night by Officer T. M. Hall for the theft of two Panama hats, ten neckties, half a dozen pocket handkerchiefs and a pad of bone collar buttons from Gaylord's department store, on North Front street.

D. H. Maultsby and William Campbell, employes of the store, detected the theft and called Patrolman Hall. Seeing the officer approach the negro fled. He ran down Front street to Grace and was at last caught on the wharf at Nutt street. He was lodged in the city prison to await trial Monday.

According to a negro with whom Green has been stopping, the man came here with a show some time ago. His landlord called up to find out what the trouble was and see if he could arrange bail, but when he found that his lodger had been stealing he declared he would have nothing more to do with him.

Green's arrest last night was the 99th one for the month and a few minutes later the 100th was made for a trifling offense. Last month on this date only 68 arrests were recorded on the blotter at the police station.

Local Firm Lands Contract.

It will be learned with interest here that the contract for the extension of the sewerage system and the construction of a filtration plant at Concord, N. C., has been awarded to the Clarendon Construction Company, of this city. The amount involved is said to be about $42,000. While the Clarendon Construction Company is comparatively a new firm, this is not its first contract. However, it is one of substantial proportions and is an eloquent testimonial that the firm is making good.

ROBBERS MURDER WOMAN.

Horrible Case In New York—Object Was Robbery.

New York, June 17.—Robbers today broke into the home of Mrs. Morando, in the lower eastside, tied a rope about her neck and murdered her by tightening the rope with a stick, after the manner of the garrote. They then lacerated her ears by tearing out the diamond ear-rings and took from her fingers four diamond rings.

Mrs. Morando, who was 45 years old and the wife of a prosperous merchant, had sent her two small children out to play when two men rapped on her door.

When she opened the door they attacked her. Her 14-year-old son coming back from play an hour later found the door locked and entered the apartments through a fire escape. He found his mother dead and the flt looted. His cries summoned the neighbors. The rooms had been ransacked and the police believe that the robbers obtained more than the jewels taken from Mrs. Morando's body.

BRUNSWICK MOONSHINERS.

Capture Near Calabash—Personal and General News Items.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., June 17.—Deputy Marshals Coy Formy Duval and L. M. Benton, yesterday brought in a notorious moonshiner that they arrested in his little shack on the beach near Calabash, in Brunswick county. The prisoner was landed in jail and his name is Will Hewette. He is said to be the King of Moonshiners in Brunswick. They did not get Benton's still, as it had been moved, but they hope yet to find the "copper." The arrest was made about 12 at night, when Hewette was at home and not expecting visitors. He surrendered without resistance, only asking the officers not to handcuff him and he would go with them and not try to escape.

Mr. Formy Duval says the moonshiners in Brunswick are doing a great deal of malicious mischief against those against whom they have a grouch; that they cut up harness and break up vehicles not only of revenue officers, but of citizens who object to their business. They have even been known to maim stock by sticking the blades of knives into them. One of their practices is to stretch a rope across the road the officers must travel at night, which takes them under the chin, and they are dragged from horse or buggy and thrown to the ground. But the officers are determined to break up these illicit whiskey distillers. They make the vilest drink from cheap molasses, and employ the crudest methods.

Messrs. Stephen McIntyre, of Lumberton, and Hicks, of Dunn, were in Whiteville this week on business.

Misses Katie Knowles, of Mt. Olive, N. C., and Louise Watson, of Fayetteville, are visiting their classmate from Meredith College, Miss Annie Memory, and will spend some time in Whiteville. These charming young ladies have captivated the hearts of all our people and are the recipients of much attention. They attended a delightful entertainment Friday night at Capt. J. D. Maultsby's and another tonight at Vineland.

Mrs. J. E. Sims, of Atlanta, reached Whiteville last evening on an extended visit to her daughter, Mrs. S. E. Memory.

The oppresive, hot weather is driving many of our people to the seashore and the Sunday excursion trains both to Wrightsville and Myrtle beaches are crowded.

Grand Theatre.

The week just closed has been the most successful since the Grand has opened. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tally began an engagement and hold the record for attendance. Beyond a doubt these entertainers and singers are the best the Grand has ever had and the way Grandites pack the house every day is proof positive that they are among the best in the business. Tomorrow Mr. Tally will sing "Nora Malone" and on Wednesday as a special feature he will sing "Bettie Brown." finishing by singing with the phonograph, singing the same song, the record of which was made by Mr. Tally thereby giving the original song and wishing by singing with the phonograph. This will be a novelty and will undoubtedly pack the house. Beginning tomorrow Mr. Herman Kahn will begin his services as musical director of the Grand orchestra in place of Mr. Kneisel who is leaving. Mr. Kahn is an exceptionally fine violinist and will be a worthy successor to Mr. Kneisel. He has a wide experience in the musical world and Grandites can rest assured that under his direction will be up to the standard established by the excellent Grand orchestra. Doors open at 2 P. M.

At the Bijou.

The Bijou last night closed another week of glorious artistic success and big financial triumph. The past week was one of the greatest in every way, the Bijou has ever had. It would seem that the hotter the weather the larger the crowds, because those who go Bijouward are always assured of having a delightfully cool and comfortable resting place, while seeing a big and superb show. The bill presented yesterday was one of the richest for comedy and greatest for dramatic intensity ever presented in Wilmington, while the musical numbers were hugely enjoyed. Along this line it is well to mention with words of praise the fine ballad singing of Mr. Frank Banks. He is a Wilmington boy and is generally acknowledged by people from away to be one of the best illustrated song singers in the business. The Bijou has another big week to be inaugurated tomorrow afternoon. The list of films is big and expensive.

The Airdome.

The programme last night was greatly enjoyed by the large Saturday crowds at the Airdome, as "S. R. O." was the pass word and the quartette made a big hit singing "Steamboat Bill" and each and every appearance they responded to an encore and Mr. Reilly's minstrel song was a separate and distinct hit. He will have on a new song for Monday and will sing "Roll on, Thou Deep Blue Ocean," and there will be several new photo plays which consist largely of good comedy. Always cool and always merry. Opens 7:30 to 11:30 P. M.

WOULD FREE LIST SUGAR.

Bill Introduced in the House—Measure to Increase Tobacco Revenue.

Washington, June 17.—Representative Warburton, of Washington, introduced a bill in the House today placing sugar on the free list and increasing the revenue of manufactured tobacco. The bill is in line with the arguments made by Mr. Warburton, in his speech against the Underwood wool bill in which he declared that revenue from tobacco could be largely increased. His bill proposes to tax snuffs 24 cents a pound; loose tobacco prepared for sale 16 cents a pound, and a graduated increase over the present tariffs on cigars and cigarettes.

IT IS GOOD

for a man to know just where he is financially. When he pays all his bills—big bills—and little bills—by check—he knows. He knows where his money went, and nobody can make him pay the same bill twice—for his check is an indisputable receipt.

This bank finds pleasure in handling the acounts of such men.

Never before had the historic old St. Louis Hotel, near the famous French Market Place, contained such an assemblage of beautiful women and famous men. Here it was that Henry Clay made his only speech in Louisiana, and with matchless eloquence paid a glowing tribute to the beauty of Southern women. Before and after this banquet the guests sipped the famous French Market Coffee, as was the custom in those days. Then this famous beverage could be had only at the French Market. Now you may serve it at your own table, for the old French Market blend is perpetuated by

VIOLENT IN COTTON MARKET

Sensational Break in Prices Featured Yesterday—Net Loss of 25 to 30 Points—Bearish Private Conditions.

New York, June 17.—Private reports of rain in Texas and bearish private condition figures, suggesting a bearish government report early next month, caused a violent selling movement in the cotton market today and a sensational break in prices. Old crop months sold 29 to 30 points under the closing figures of yesterday, and new crop positions broke 20 to a net loss of from 22 to 24 points, and while slight rallies occurred in the late trading the buying seemed to be mostly in the way of covering of shorts for over Sunday with the close barely steady, at a net loss of 25@35 points.

The market opened easy at a decline of 13@18 points on the private rain news, and a report by a local statistician placing the average condition of the crop at 87.5, comparing with the same report of 86.3 toward the end of May, and 80.8 per cent at this time last year. Immediately following the call, the offerings were overwhelming and the market quickly turned weak, under active selling for both accounts. The old crop positions led the decline, with July selling at 14.81, comparing with 16.13, the high point of the season, while October broke to 13.27, or a little more than $2.50 per bale below the high level of the week. Realizing by shorts became very active, at the decline, and prices rallied several points from the lowest, but there was no aggressive bull support and sentiment was very much unsettled, with continued offerings of long cotton preventing any sustained recovery.

Receipts today, 392 bales, against 1,132 last week and 3,413 last year; for the week, 12,600 bales, against 12,773 last week and 23,304 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 181 bales, against 414 last year, and at Houston, 140, against 447 last year.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points lower. Middling uplands, 15.50; middling gulf, 15.75; sales, 55 bales.

Futures closed barely steady.

Why is Sugar Sweet?

If sugar did not dissolve in the mouth you could not taste the sweet. Parties who knew the boy can scarcely recognize him, so great has been the change. **

STOCKS REMAINED THE SAME

Prices Barely Moved as Result of Trading Yesterday.—Market Unusually Dull—Copper Group Was Well Held.

New York, June 17.—Prices were barely changed as a result of today's trading on the stock exchange. The market was unusually dull and was dominated by a mildly reactionary tone, although the slight losses were for the most part effaced by a recovery before the close. The professional element apparently was committed to the bear side and exerted pressure sufficient to give an appearance of weakness to the market for a time, such standard shares as Reading and Union Pacific receding materially. Both of these issues as well as Northern Pacific, Lehigh Valley and various specialties reached the lowest points of the week.

The copper group was well held and was in fair demand. Unusual interest attached to today's bank statement by reason of the fact that for the first time it embraced the operations of the sixteen new trust company members, whose resources swelled the total enormously. Actual loans, for instance, increased last week about $13,000,000, and for this week increased $572,000,000, while an estimated cash gain of $10,000,000, based upon the operations of the former members only was increased to $74,000,000. It is not to be assumed, however, that these changes were due entirely to the new system. The week witnessed numerous bond and syndicate operations, and these transactions undoubtedly helped to swell the loan account. A natural effect of the increased clearing house membership was shown in the reduced loans of the remaining non-members, the item being decreased by almost $557,000,000.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,638,000. United States 2s lost ½ and the 4s ¼ on call on the week.

Total sales of stocks today were 169,500 shares.

CALL OF THE SOUTH.

Millions of Idle Land Awaiting Development by Immigrants.

Roanoke, Va., June 17.—There are many millions of idle lands in the South, but there is really no need why we allow it. It is simply a question of getting people into the South. Why that's the veriest platitude, you say. Of course, it is. It is one of those certainties which, by oft repetition, grows trite, until we go into action.

Getting people into the Southern States has grown into a question because we have been speculating about, instead of working to settle it.

We have tried to make it a public matter when it is, in fact, a work for us as individuals. We know absolutely that no great work is accomplished in any other way, but somehow we have made immigration a matter of mystery. For years past we have seen an annual inflow of millions of foreigners into the United States. Some of them we have desired to bring into the Southern States, but have not proceeded very far in doing it. Now how come the foreigner to set out for our shores? What was the beginning point of his wish to come to this country? Just this: some individual already here wrote him a letter, that's all. Someone personally advertised this country to his friends and relatives in his home country, and they came. Anything easier to be understood than that? Do you not begin to "catch the point" of the "Back Home" movement? If the Italians, Hungarians, Poles, Greeks, Armenians and Russians can, by personal letters, bring hundreds of thousands of their countrymen to this country every year, can we not take the trouble of writing to our acquaintances in the North, West and Northwest about present conditions and opportunities here in the South? It is useless to debate whether it will do any good or not, just DO IT.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 17.—The Robert M. LaFollette boom for President was launched here tonight at a mass meeting of the executive committee of the Minnesota Progressive League. A resolution was adopted endorsing him as the progressive candidate and recommending the resolution for favorable action to all of the progressive organizations in the State.

Richmond, Va., June 17.—As a result of the Old Dominion tennis tournament at the Virginia Country Club, this city, Theodore Roosevelt Pell, of New York, won from Richard H. Palmer, of Ridgewood, N. J., today, the challenge cup of the Old Dominion Association.

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY UNION.

Twenty-Third Annual Sessions Came to Close Friday Near Garland.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Garland, N. C., June 17.—The 23rd annual sessions of the Woman's Missionary Union of Wilmington Presbytery adjourned at South River Church yesterday. Twenty-two delegates were present for the sessions, which closed a most successful year with a surplus. Four new societies have been organized.

The Committee on Liturature reported that The Home Mission Herald and the Foreign Missionary Magazine are to be merged into one. The May Johnson Loan Fund was presented by Miss Mary Colvin. Yesterday the praise service by Miss Mary Corbett and songs from the children were especially enjoyed. An address "Consecration," by Mrs. G. C. Worth was excellent and gave an insight into the characters of our missionaries. Dr. Worth presented "Cot Support" in his ever pleasing manner. The memorial service by Mrs. Cumming was much enjoyed. "Woman's Ward Fund," by Miss Eliza Murphy was good and it is worth noting that the Union has undertaken to build a woman's ward in Dr. Worth's Hospital in China. This will cost $16,000 and the amount is to be raised within the next 15 months.

The Union will meet next year at the First Presbyterian church in Wilmington. The visitors went away expressing great appreciation of the hospitality shown them by our people.

BONDING COMPANY WINS.

Court Says Government Is Not Intitled to Recover In Neely Case.

New York, June 17.—In an opinion filed today in the Federa. Court Judge Martin held that the government is not entitled to judgment against the Fidelity & Deposit Company, of Maryland, on the bond of $50,000 given by Charles F. W. Neely, for proper performance of his duties when he assumed charge of the Bureau of Finance of the Department of Posts at Havana during the American occupation.

Neely was charged with having embezzled $140,000, the proceeds of stamp sales. Because of the Cuban amnesty he was not punished, but the government sued him civilly for the full amount of the embezzlement and recovered judgment.

Judge Martin holds that there was unreasonable delay in bringing the suit to recover on the Neely bond and that the terms of the contract were not complied with and no rights accrued thereunder to the government. The government will appeal from Judge Martin's finding.

WEEK'S INDUSTRIAL REVIEW

Enterprises of Great Magnitude Reported to Manufacturers' Record Past Week — Activity in Railroad Improvements.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Baltimore, June 15.—Railroad and industrial enterprises of great magnitude indicative of the broadening activities of the South, are reported for the week in the Manufacturers' Record.

The most important item of business news from the South during the week is the announcement that the Louisville & Nashville Railroad will take up some large construction work which had been planned prior to the panic of 1907, including the building of a double track road 110 miles in length —and of large improvement work on its lines in the central South, at an aggregate cost estimated to be about $15,000,000.

As indicative of a recognition that the time has come for large railroad expansion in the South, this undertaking of the Louisville & Nashville is of the greatest moment.

The announcement recently made that English cotton spinners had invested $3,000,000 in cotton-growing alnds in the South is followed by some details of the purchase in this week's issue, and likewise by the announcement that the Pearson interests, long identified with the investment of English capital in Mexico, have secured $6,000,000 of English money for the development of an irrigation system in Texas, to include the building of a dam at an estimated cost of $1,600,000, and provision for irrigating 60,000 acres of land. There are unconfirmed rumors of a number of other large investments by foreign capitalists in Southern enterprises, railroad and industrial, and the indications are that the South is again becoming an attractive field for European capital.

Among other industrial and kindred enterprises announced in this week's issue of the Manufacturers' Record are taken the following brief summaries of a few of the more important ones:

The Suwanee Lumber Co., Dowling Park, Fla., contracted to buy 200,000,000 feet of pine, and will construct saw mill with planer, dry kilns, etc., for a daily capacity of 75,000 feet of lumber.

W. J. Grandin, Tidioute, Pa., purchased 60,000 acres of timber land in North Carolina, to be developed by building saw and planing mills, etc.

The Long-Bell Lumber Co., Kansas City, Mo., is negotiating for about 150,000 acres of timber land and three mills with a capacity of 100,000,000 feet of lumber in Texas.

The Appalachian Power Co., Toccoa, Ga., was incorporated, with $250,000 capital stock, to develop a water power property in northeast Georgia; details of construction are not ready for announcement.

The Virginia Land & Waterpower Co., Byrdville, Va., was chartered with $225,000 capital stock by Virginia and North Carolina capitalists.

George C. Brown & Company, Memphis, Tenn., will develop 7,000 acres of timber land in Arkansas and erect a band saw mill with a daily capacity of about 40,000 feet of lumber.

The North Carolina Orchards Co., Fayetteville, N. C., was incorporated with $350,000 capital stock to develop 10,000 acres of land by the cultivation of pecans, grapes, strawberries, cotton, etc.

The American Pocahontas Collieries Corporation, Roanoke, Va., was incorporated with $50,000 capital stock to develop coal properties.

Carroll County Drainage District No. 3, Carrollton, Mo., awarded contract for the construction of canals to reclaim about 20,000 acres of land; estimated expenditure, $200,000.

Standard Kanawha Coal Mining Co., Quick, W. Va., will develop 2,000 acres of coal land and plans a daily output of 1,200 tons; Pennsylvania capitalists incorporated this company recently with $200,000 capital stock.

Birch Valley Coal Co., Uniontown, Pa., was chartered with $250,000 capital stock to develop coal land in Braxton county, W. Va.

Fred C. Leonard, Coudersport, Pa., and associates, were reported as having purchased about 60,000 acres of Tennessee coal land.

The Pine Swamp Big Vein Coal Co., Piedmont, W. Va., was organized to develop 3,000 acres of coal land.

A. G. Little Lumber Co., Richardson, Miss., will build single band saw mill, operated by electric power with a daily capacity of 50,000 to 60,000 feet of lumber.

Colorado River Power Co., Marble Falls, Texas, plans to construct several additional dams at different locations to augment its Marble Falls plant, the ultimate development to provide 20,000 horse power for transmission by electricity.

Mortimer Lumber Co., Bon Weir, Tenn., will build a saw mill with a daily capacity of 25,000 feet of lumber.

Dickinson Fire Brick Co., Buena Vista, Va., will establish a plant, costing about $25,000 to refine paper clays.

Crystal Onyx Co., Atlanta, Ga., is planning to develop onyx properties near Knoxville, Tenn.

Dunigan Stave & Cooperage Co., Meridian, Miss., was incorporated with $30,000 capital stock.

SOUNDING THE CANDIDATES.

Anti-Saloon League Asks Questions of Would-Be Senators.

Richmond, Va., June 17.—In reply to a question from the Anti-Saloon League, of Virginia, as to their attitude on the liquor question, Federal Senators Martin and Swanson and Congressmen Jones and Glass, candidates for the Senate, all print letters today stating frankly that they are in favor of the Miller-Curtis bill pending in Congress and opposed to the Bartholdt bill, the latter contemplating a restoration of the canteen at army posts.

Paris, June 17.—A dispatch to the Temps from Saint Sebastian says that Gen. Diaz declared at Vigo that his resignation of the Presidency of Mexico was his final service to his fatherland as he had been convinced by his friends that only through his withdrawal could peace be restored. Nevertheless, he believed that he could have remained and won out over the revolutionists.

WHITE HOUSE EVENT MONDAY.

The Silver Anniversary of President and Mrs. Taft.

Washington, June 17.—President and Mrs. Taft will have been married 25 years Monday and thousands of persons in all parts of the country and abroad, are planning to express to the chief executive and the first lady in the land their felicitations upon the silver anniversary of their wedding.

Scores of their personal friends and relatives will be here to attend the reception which will be given by the President and Mrs. Taft at the White House Monday night. They are coming into Washington by almost every train. The mails are bringing hundreds of letters containing congratulations upon the happy event.

Hundreds of presents are pouring in upon President and Mrs. Taft. Among the handsomest of the presents will be those sent by the members of the Senate and the members of the House.

The Senators had selected a solid silver tea and coffee service containing seven pieces, including alarge silver waiter. The other pieces are te and coffee pots, kettle, bowl, sugar bowl and cream pitcher. Each of these pieces will be marked with a monogram containing the initials of the President and Mrs. Taft and the date of their wedding and the silver anniversary. The silver service will cost about $900.

The House members selected as their present three dozen service plates. They too, are to be marked with a monogram containing intials and dates, and on the back with a sentence recording the fact that the plates are the gift from the members of the House. The plates cost about $2,000, it is said.

Of course, handsome presents will be sent by the members of the cabinet. Postmaster General Hitchcock has sent a large silver flower urn. The Taft Philippine party is also planning to present the President and Mrs. Taft with a token of their regard and affection.

Monday morning the Commercial Club, of Cincinnati, Ohio, will arrive in Washington on special trains. Shortly after noon the club will entertain the President at luncheon at the Chevy Chase Club.

The Cincinnatians will bring with them some gorgeous silver from their own silversmiths. Monday night the club members will attend the lawn fete in the White House grounds in a body.

The following day the club will leave here for Old Point Comfort, where special arrangements have been made by the Navy Department for their entertainment at the target practice of Hampton Roads.

IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

Hcs Completely Justified Its Existence.—The Features.

London, June 17.—The Imperial conference which at the outset many persons feared would be a failure, has completely justified its existence. The cause of pessimism in the early period was the rejection of the Dominion's proposals for the establishment of a council of the Empire, the initial step of imperial federation, which, however, the dominions were afraid would interfere with the autonomy so jealously guarded by Premiers Laurier, of Canada; Botha, of South Africa, and Fisher, of Australia.

Later resolutions were introduced aimed at the commercial and individual development of the British empire and defense, subjects on which the dominions and the home government were in agreement.

The home government was unable to support the scheme for a State-owned Atlantic cable, as the cost was considered prohibitive, but it hoped to obtain cheaper cable rates by negotiation with the telegraph companies.

Sil Wilfrid Laurier is as strongly as ever in favor of preference within the empire, but has not yet referred the question to the imperial conference. Instead, he presented a resolution which was adopted last night providing for a royal commission to visit the overseas dominions and report on trade and resources and methods for their development. This is regarded as one of the most important actions of the conference.

Other practical results of the conference have been the action of the British foreign office in taking the dominions into its confidence with regard to foreign relations and the acceptance of Premier Laurier's suggestion to negotiate governments with a view to giving the overseas dominions the right of withdrawal from any commercial treaty without impairing such with respect to the remainder of the empire.

TELL TROUBLES TO TAFT.

Negroes at Providence Following False Leader from Philadelphia.

Providence, R. I., June 17.—A delegation of 5,000 negroes to visit Washington with a committee of 15 for spokesmen, to tell President Taft of the alleged wrongs which the race suffers in the South, was decided upon at today's session of the New England Baptist Missionary Convention, (colored).

None of the details was fixed, but a member of the executive committee said they would probably gather in a Washington church and ask President Taft to address them, and send a committeee to the White House later.

The plan was introduced by Rev. G. L. P. Taliaferro, D. D., editor of the Christian Banner, of Philadelphia.

WASHINGTON INVESTIGATIONS

"Red Buck" Takes the Measures of Some of the Captains of Industry Who Have Been Summoned There.

Washington, June 17. — Interesting men are being brought here to testify before the various investigating committees of the House. The average Congressman is as dull as a frog pond, when compared with a citizen like John W. Gates, once the wire king of this country, and Elbert H. Gary, who draws more salary than the nine members of the House that interrogated him last week.

I know some clever, entertaining statesmen, but they are few in the hill. By some hook or crook, or cheap demagoguery, or a fight with a negro, may bring some sap-head to Washington to represent a Congressional district, but unless a man has gray matter in his head he cannot run the United States Steel Corporation or could not have organized and managed the American Wire Company in its golden days.

John W. Gates was once a traveling man. He drifted into the hardware business, and fell headlong into the manufacture of steel products. Horses, pretty women, faro and other games, and all sorts of spirited things appeal to him.

Mr. Gates was the first important witness put on the stand by the Stanley steel investigation committee. He wanted to take a trip to Scotland, and perhaps Monte Carlo, and preferred to testify before quitting the country. Chairman Stanley, who is an accommodanting Kentuckian, was willing.

The former wire-maker is a fine-looking piece of flesh. Clad in a natty grey suit, with yellow shoes and socks to match, and the best of linen, he appeared as neat and fresh as a school girl graduate, the day he told what he knew about Andy Carnegie and J. P. Morgan. His smooth cheeks still have the bloom of health in them and his mustache and hair are touched with frost, but his eye is clear and bright, and harbors a faint, mischievous smile, which, when he talked about Mr. Carnegie, broadened into a laugh.

I never listened to a more delightful witness. He did not owe Pierpont Morgan or anybody else a cent that he could not pay the day he was here. Rich, independent, and free from ordinary cares, he does not mind having a little fun. He threw brickbats for five hours, and it will take the officials of the Steel Trust, if there be such a thing, years to sweep the dust from their front steps. In the meantime, John W. Gates, the gay, the debonair and the cunning, is capering nimbly to the tunes of a Scottish bag-pipe.

"Andy Carnegie was a queer old soul," said Mr. Gates. "Nobody ever did understand him. If you hitched him up he would break loose. Gentlemen's agreements did not bother him when it came to selling goods. He was out for Andy."

In substance, that is what Mr. Gates said of the Ironmaster. This speech was not made in a spirit of criticism, but it was incidental to other things.

The committee and the newspaper men enjoyed Mr. Gates. He made good copy.

Mr. Gates was accompanied by his son, Charlie, and his attorney, Richard Jones, Jr. The younger Gates sat at his father's elbow and gave him a hunch every now and then. If the "Old Man" made an answer that seemed to Charlie to hit the bull's eye, Charlie smiled and winked at some of the busy scribes.

"Morgan told Jim Hill that he and I were not on good terms," said Mr. Gates. "Mr. Hill got us together. I got Charlie Schwab, took him to Morgan. We had an all-night session. The plans for the big steel corporation were made."

That is the way he put it. Judge Gary says that he is a dreamer. He said that Mr. Carnegie was in a pool to sell railroad rails at a certain price, but he broke the agreement and sold to one of his customers for less than the figures fixed.

"We had him up," declared the witness, "but he slipped out. He denied the charge. The truth was, he had thrown in nails, spikes and everything else, and in that way evaded the agreement. If you convicted him and fined him, he would not pay the penalty. That is all there is to it."

From Gates, the Stanley committee went to the other extreme. Judge Gary followed. No smoother witness ever appeared in Washington. For three days the members of the investigating committee grilled him, but when he left the stand he was just as calm and as ready as he was the day he went on.

Judge Gary has the advantage over ninety-nine one-hundredths of his fellow men. His Maker started him out with a head full of sense and a heart full of ice and courage. His first efforts at making money were devoted to the practice of law. He succeeded. He was the judge in the second trial of the Chicago anarchists. As a judge, he ranked well. Cool-headed, affable, educated and quick, Judge Gary is able to play with committees. He told the Stanley committee many things, but could have told it more. Having heard him tell enough to fill a book, every page of which would make entertaining reading, I would like to hear some of the things he did not tell.

Judge Gary is a middle-aged man. He is younger than Mr. Gates, and of quite a different type. Life is a serious matter with him. He has worked, using hands, brain and heart, all of his days. Hard labor has brought him success. The Stanley committee would adjourn at 6 o'clock to meet at 10 the following morning. The witness was always among the very first to appear. The committee seldom got a quorum until 10:30 or later. There is a difference that counts in the everyday world. That half hour gained by Judge Gary and lost by the committee every day makes a vast difference in the final count. Some people would call Mr. Gary's success "luck," but study the man and you will understand.

I used to fox hunt. Every man can be likened to a foxhound. Being fond of the old hound I can say this without offence. In a pack of red fox killers you have one or two dogs that do the work. Old Lead, for instance, strikes before any other dog. Why? Because he covers more ground and hunts longer and closer. When the fox is up, he may be the leader in the desperate life and death contest of the fox. All hunters know why he leads. He has the stuff to start with and improves every opportunity. Judge Gary is the leader of the steel pack. He is up early and late and strikes while the iron is hot. If the government puts him in jail, a mighty good worker will be behind the bars.

Chairman Stanley and his associates were impressed by the frankness, whether feigned or genuine, of the steel magnate. I have no doubt that the Steel Trust is guilty of violating the Sherman law, but it will require smart lawyers to prove it by Judge Gary's testimony.

We are looking for Teddy Roosevelt and Pierpont Morgan. H. E. C. B.

IMPORTATION OF SEED.

Twenty Million Dollars Worth of Flax in One Year.

Washington, D. C., June 17.—A high record importation of $20,000,000 worth of flaxseed in the fiscal year 1911 is indicated by the records of the Bureau of Statistics, Department of Commerce and Labor, now completed for the 10 months ending with April, 1911. During that period the imports of flaxseed or linseed, aggregated 8,250,000 bushels, compared with a little over 3,000,000 bushels last year and 53,000 bushels in the corresponding period of 1909. The growth in value is even greater, the 10 months' figures of the current fiscal year being $16,750,000, against $5,000,000 in 1910 and but $73,625 in 1909. The estimated importation of $20,000,000 worth of flaxseed in the fiscal year which ends with the present month, exceeds by more than $10,000,000 the value imported in 1909, is nearly $18,000,000 above the record of 1901, and is by far the larger than that of any other year. During the ten years, 1901 to 1910, inclusive, a total of $13,000,000, or an average annual importation of $1,300,000 is shown as against $20,000,000 for the single year of 1911, now drawing to a close.

Flaxseed furnishes the bulk of the $28,000,000 worth of seeds of various kinds imported during the year. The other leading classes include sugar beet, clover, and castor beans. Of these, the imports of clover seed during the year will be about $3,000,000, and those of sugar beets and castor seed, each about $700,000. The remaining $3,750,000 worth of seeds imported includes grass, mustard, beet, cabbage, poppy and flower seeds, also a large number of seeds valued by reason of the volatile oils and perfumes contained, such as anise, caraway, coriander and fennel.

The price of imported flaxseed tends to increase from year to year. In 1897 the average price per bushel was $1.03; in 1901, $1.27; in 1903, $1.50; in 1909, $1.40; in 1910, $1.70; and in 1911, $2.04, for the high record importation of 8,250,000 bushels in the 10 months ending with April.

Argentina is the chief source of the flaxseed imported into the United States, about 60 per cent. of the imports during 1910 having been from that country, compared with about 25 per cent. from Canada and about 4 per cent. each from the British East Indies and Belgium. Nearly all the sugar beet seed imported is from Germany, while clover seed is imported chiefly from Germany, Canada and France.

The very large increase in importations of flaxseed during 1911 is due to the partial failure of the crop last year. The flaxseed crop of the United States is, according to figures of the Bureau of Statistics of the Department of Agriculture, chiefly produced in Minnesota and North and South Dakota. The crop in North Dakota last year was to a large extent a failure, reducing the domestic production by nearly one-half, and the amount available for market purposes, aside from seed, fully one-half, hence the large importations in the current year from foreign countries.

The shortage in the domestic crop of flaxseed and presumably in the production of linseed oil is reflected in the large imports of oil of that character during the current fiscal year. During the nine months ending with March, 1911, the imports for consumption of linseed oil aggregated 3,207,425 gallons, valued at $2,193,679 compared with 467,664 gallons, valued at $258,390 in the entire fiscal year 1910 and but 28,102 gallons valued at $13,249 in the fiscal year 1909.

A Charming Woman

is one who is lovely in face, form, mind and temper. But its hard for a woman to be charming without health. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate Stomach, Liver and Kidneys, purify the blood; give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion and perfect health. Try them. 50c. at R. R. CAROLINIA'S SENATORIAL RACE

(The Carolina Democrat.)

(This is the first article of the Raleigh Correspondent on the Senatorial Race. The next will appear in The Carolina Democrat's next issue and is the most powerful and keen analysis that has been written.)

Never in North Carolina history, and seldom in the history of any American State, has there been a political race so splendid as that promised in the candidacies of Simmons, Aycock, Clark and Kitchin for the United States Senate. For one I do not regret that the four are so early in the race; 18 months of so magnificent a battle is none too much for me—especially as I am to be a mere spectator; for with such candidates no Democrat need greatly be alarmed for the welfare of his party or his country, however much he may be and should be excised that the right man, as he sees it, should win. They are the four ablest public men in the State. There is just one man that has more brains than any of them, but he dropped out of politics more than a decade ago. He is getting $25,000 a year for his brains. Each is his own man. Each has a distinctive political character and platform. And each is a good fighter.

I notice the papers are saying that it is to be a peaceful campaign. Lay not that flattering unction to your souls. Mark my words: it will be the hottest campaign and the closest in the State's history. No man can pick the winner now; and I doubt if the situation will be more capable of definite analysis two days before the first primary. I say "first," for there will be two. A year from now the situation will be as warm as the fiery furnace that the Hebrew children went through of old. May these come out as unscathed!

And I do not regret that, either. In the crucible of a great campaign great leaders are made and great causes are given form and character. Such battles may not be good for political parties, but they are the stuff on which great causes are nourished. Clark and Simmons, Aycock and Kitchin in a namby-pamby campaign! Milk and water as a diet for lions!

These four are well known to the people of North Carolina; but in different ways. Simmons is known by reputation; Clark by quiet personal heart to heart interviews, by an extensive correspondence, and by reputation as well; Aycock is known as a popular leader; and Kitchin likewise, though in less degree. Simmons has an unrivalled political record; he was the organizer of victory. Aycock was the hero of that victory. They—the Moses and Aaron of the exodus from the black Egypt of Negroid politics to the Canaan of White Supremacy. Clark and Kitchin were, of course, true enough to that great cause; but their fame is so far eclipsed in this respect that they must needs look to other grounds for popular applause. They are not without them. Clark's career on the bench is one long triumph—a judge with a genius for publicity, of the most highly developed political instincts, and withal one whose opinions are shot through with sympathy for the rank and file of men and women; while Kitchin has been the most brilliant of the State's champions of Mr. Bryan and that sort of Democracy known as Bryanism. Of the four his touch with politics and the people is most recent.

Simmons is the best organizer; Clark the most adroit; Aycock the most eloquent; Kitchin the most combative, though here both Simmons and Clark are only a shade behind him. They are each over-endowed with ambition; but Clark is most ambitious of them all. In this quality neither Caesar nor Napoleon surpass him. Whether Clark or Simmons is the more resourceful remains to be seen. Each is a past master in this respect. Aycock is certainly the most popular, and he is likewise the least practical; while Kitchin is both popular and practical. But he is not so practical as Simmons. Simmons is least popular, but he is the best organizer. Again, whether Simmons or Clark is the more industrious, I cannot say; each has enormous capacity for details, truly prodigious workers. But Simmons is the younger; and when I saw him the other day he was in the pink of condition—not an ounce of superfluous flesh on his bones, his eye brilliant, his face all aglow, his step as easy as an athlete's. Here is a man that will make the fight of his life, I said to myself as we shook hands. By the way, he looks the Senator of late.

And this brings on the subject of the physical condition of these men. Judge Clark appears to be in good health; but he has been a prodigious worker; the midnight oil has been burned in his den for 40 years; he has not been without his private worries; he has the restlessness of his ambitious soul; he has passed the meridian of his day; and—I wonder if he will, to use a race-track phrase, be able to take now a killing finish. Of them all, he only is old enough to have been a Confederate soldier, and he was, and he cheerfully takes, I doubt not, the handicap of age for that. Mr. Aycock, it is well known, has not been in good health for several months. It will be remembered that he hardly got through the campaign of 1910, and only once in that campaign, at Charlotte, did he appear in old-time form. But he has taken advice of his physician; and he has been told that all is well, that there is no reason why his health should not become as robust as it ever has been. He appears better of late, and I know that every reader of these lines will send him at once a "health vibration," as the spiritual people say. Likewise, Mr. Kitchin does not seem so well as he was. He has not recovered from the effects of his campaign for Governor, and his failure to recover promptly is significant. His first months in the mansion were marked by a notable weariness of pose. But he has steadily improved. He has a beautiful physique; his life has been clean and wholesome; he is the youngest of the four; and I predict for him an old age as lusty as his father's—that stout old warrior of the Roanoke. He is in that period now when so many strong men fall back, only to come again with renewed strength for the last lap of life's race.

To return to the less personal aspects of the four. Simmons and Kitchin will have the best organizations to begin with; though Clark and Aycock have broken into them heavily already. Aycock will have the most newspaper support; and Clark will have the most need of it. Not one of the four is wealthy, and none of them have wealthy friends. I do not think there will be any money thrown away in the campaign. Politics in North Carolina is not a lucrative career, obviously. Both Clark and Simmons have large farms, but that is about all. Kitchin and Clark have the largest and most powerful family connections, but Mr. Aycock has not a few friends who are as close as brothers. Mr. Simmons is not rich in kinspeople, but he has many a strong man at his call—allies rather than friends.

This is enough of a personal nature, Mr. Editor. Later on I expect to submit some comparisons—however odious—of the political assets of these four. And I think when I have finished, each of them will be wearing his true colors—and then, with the cry I used to hear at old Monmouth Park: "They're off! They're off! pay your money and take your choice."

May the best horse win!

SOUTHERN TEXTILE ASS'N.

Active Preparations Being Made for Annual Meeting July 1st.

The indications seem favorable for a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Southern Textile Association to be held in Greenville, S. C., on July 1st. The sessions will be held on Saturday afternoon and evening, a time most convenient for mill men to get away from their regular work; and Greenville is centrally located for a large percentage of the present membership. Besides this the association held one meeting at Greenville two years ago, and got a taste of the whole-souled hospitality of its people, which was one of the incentives for its selection for this meeting.

Since that time, however, the membership has been greatly increased by means of big meetings at Spartanburg, Columbia, Augusta and Charlotte, but there need be no fears in regard to Greenville's ability to provide room and accommodation for all who can attend.

The Programme Committee has assurances so far of addresses and papers as follows: On weaving by Supt. Z. H. Mangum, of the Minneola Mill, at Gibsonville, N. C.

"The Spinning Room," by Supt. W. A. Price, of the Mollohon Mill, Newberry, S. C.

"The Electrical Specialist in Cotton Mills," by Mr. John P. Judge, of Baltimore.

"Opening and Cleaning of Cotton," by J. E. Cheesman, of New York.

"Efficiency of Operation and Waste Utilization," by Engene Szepesi.

"Mill Village Improvements," by Jas. L. Carbery, of Washington, D. C.

All superintendents, overseers and heads of departments in the cotton mills are eligible to membership on payment of the fee of $1.00. For further information address.

POSTAL AND EXPRESS SYSTEM

Hearing on Lewis Bill—Author of the Measure Tells Why the Services Should Be Consolidated—As to Rates.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Washington, D. C., June 17.—The sub-committee on Postoffice and Postroads met today and took up for consideration the Lewis bill, which provides for condemning and purchasing the express companies and adding them to the Postal system, and establishing a complete system for the quick transport of packages and the catable products of the farm and truck garden, etc.

At their last conference in Washington the representatives of the business men of the country and of the farmers' granges asked Congress to establish such a system, and representatives of these interests were present at the hearing before the committee today.

"There are two main reasons why the express companies must be added to the postal system," said Mr. Lewis in his argument. "First, the express company service does not reach beyond the railways to the country or the farmers, which the post office does, through the rural free delivery, which is waiting with empty wagons to receive the express packages and take them to the country stores and the farmers, and carry back to the towns and the cities the produce of the farms and truck gardens for the people to eat, at living prices. Second, the contracts of the express companies with the railways give them an average transportation rate of three quarters of a cent a pound; and with this rate the express charges by post would be reduced from two-thirds to one-half on parcels ranging from 3 pounds, and about 28 per cent. on heavier weights, as a consequence of the co-ordination of the express company plants with the postoffice and rural delivery, and the elimination of the express company profits, which are averaging over 50 per cent. on the investment.

"The express companies are positive hindrances and obstacles to the business of the country. The average charge for carrying a ton of express in Argentina is $6.51, and for the countries of Europe $4.12, while the average express company charge in the United States is $31.20. They charge 5 times as much to carry a ton of express as a ton of freight in other countries. Here the express companies charge 16 times as much. Of course, these charges simply prohibit by half or more of the traffic in the United States. Our average is less than one hundred pounds per capita, while that of the other countries is over two hundred pounds per capita, although we have far greater d... for quick transport on account of our longer distances and more extensive business."

"We cannot have an efficient parcels post. The government cannot conduct it on mail railway transportation rates, at over four cents a pound, in competition with the express companies' paying but three-fourths of a cent a pound, excluding the weight of equipment in both cases; which enables the express corporations to pay over fifty per cent. in profits to themselves, although rendering no service whatever to the farmers and to points off the railways."

Mr. Lewis has worked out a system of "zones" based on scientific methods, from which a five pound package, for instance, can be sent 196 miles for 11 cents, while the express companies now charge 25 cents and more for like distances; from Calais, Maine, to San Francisco, will cost 30 cents for five pounds, and $2.42 for 50 pounds, as against the express company charges of 85 cents and $7.50.

With the rural free delivery a part of the express system, an agricultural parcels post will market the farmers' produce and save them the time and labor of marketing their truck. Rates even lower than those quoted are promised, by having the rural and city carrietrs assemble the small consignments of the individual shippers and utilize the fast freight service on trunk lines, with passenger trains on the branch roads to hurry the staff to destination, at the regular fast freight rates. The postoffice will recoup itself by securing carload rates for the assembled shipments, while the small shippers get their advantage over the present conditions by having their collect-and-delivery system for practically nothing.

This system is now in vogue in Germany, and shippers, Mr. Lewis shows pay only double freight rates, less than a tenth of the express rates here.

The food problem, the "high cost of living," according to Mr. Lewis' figures, is largely the result of the want of a proper articulation of our transportation with the rural sources of supply. While prices are often prohibitive to the consumer, crops may be rotting at the place of production, for want of a Real express service."

The committee's hearing will be printed.

AIR SHIPS IN WAR.

U. S. Navy's View of Glenn H. Curtiss' Exepriments.

"In my opinion, Mr. Curtiss has done more for the development of naval aviation, recently, than any other man in the world, and he deserves special honor for his liberality and foresight."

This is the opinion expressed by Captain Washington Irving Chambers, in a speech delivered at the Aeronautical Society's banquet in New York, on April 27th.

Captain Chambers said further:

"It was only last Summer that demonstrations of air flights in this country made it seem probable that aeroplanes could be used from a ship. At that time the principal factor in the general development of aviation seemed to be the stimulus afforded aviators by substantial money rewards for exhibition flights, and I desire now, to make clear to you the fact that Mr. Eugene Ely deserves special credit for cheerfully and enthusiastically entering into the spirit of Naval Aviation without the prospect of any reward whatever. He may thus be regarded as a pioneer in this branch, although it may well be recorded that he might not have been able to attempt this good work under the auspices of any other than the liberal, yet safe management of Mr. Glenn Curtiss.

"Mr. Ely was not the first aviator to be approached on the subject of demonstrating the possibilities of flights from our ships. Another prominent aviator of a different school was the first consulted. This man was willing and very enthusiastic about it, but the only response that could be obtained from the director of his company was the disappointing word, "impossible."

"I think now, it fortunate that this laconic reply was received, for it resulted in turning to Mr. Ely, and the Curtiss school. It is fortunate that one school of aviators was ready to co-operate with the Navy, and this connection with the Curtiss School led to the stage of progressive development that has resulted in one of the latest achievements of Mr. Curtiss, the production of a naval aeroplane that is almost perfect.

"With this machine he is able to arise from and alight on either land or water. He can land in perfect safety on water that is comparatively rough. His "Traid" can be hoisted in and out like a ship's boat and it gives me great satisfaction to announce that from plans already perfected by Mr. Curtiss, we will soon be able to launch it from shipboard without the necessity for any special platform or the provision of any extra feature that may not be rigged and unrigged in a few minutes.

"In my opinion, Mr. Curtiss has done more for the development of Naval Aviation, recently, than any other man in the world, and he deserves special honor for his liberality and foresight."

NATION'S SUMMER RESORTS

An Account of the Great Recreation Grounds Owned and Supervised by the Federal Government. The Tourists.

Washington, D. C., June 17.—Every year the great resorts of Europe are visited by thousands of tourists who apparently have no knowledge of the great national parks which have been created by Congress for the benefit of the people and in which there are natural features and views that can not be surpassed. If the traveler seeks Alpine glaciers, he has only to go to the Glacier National Park, where there are more glaciers in the same area than in Switzerland; if he desires to travel in comfort over finely built roads that rival those of France, Switzerland and Germany, the Yellowstone Park enxtends its invitation to him; if he is attracted to Europe by the mystery of the Black Forest, he can find more majestic and impressive forests on the slopes of the Sierra Nevada in the Yosemite, Sequoia, and General Grant Parks; if his thought turn to the clear blue lakes of Switzerland, he can find their counterpart in the Glacier and Crater Lake National Parks; if he is anxious to risk his life in scaling snow-clad peaks, he has only to repair to Mount Rainier, in Washington, whose steep slopes and ice-covered top will furnish sport exciting enough for the most daring of mountaineers; if he is interested in the ruins of prehistoric people, the Casa Grande Ruin in Arizona and the Mesa Verde National Park in Colorado will show him how the aboriginal inhabitants of America lived hundreds of years before its discovery by Europeans.

The Yellowstone National Park, in northwestern Wyoming, is the oldest and the best known of all the parks and reservations. It was created by act of Congress in 1872, and ever since that time the government has been constructing and cutting trails until now the park is in a high state of development and all parts of it are accessible to the traveler. Well built roads traverse the major portion of the park, impressive and substantial bridges cross the streams, and commodious hotels and camps have been provided for the accommodation of visitors. In this park may be seen natural phenomena the like of which is found nowhere else in the world. Here are geysers formed from throw jets of steam and hot water high into the air, great terraces formed from the deposits of mineral matter in the water was thrown up by the geysers, and the great falls of Yellowstone river, which traverses a beautiful multi-colored canyon that is second only to the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. In this park may be seen the deer, the bear, the antelope, and the bison on their native range, because hunting is prohibited and the bands of deer and antelope roam through the valleys and over the slopes as they did years ago before they were practically exterminated in the greater part of the West. Comfortable coaches take the tourist over a regular route to the principal points of interest, but if he desires to make a more extended stay or to get far from the beaten track he can readily hire an outfit of his own and make excursions into the less frequented portions of the park or climb the many peaks which may be seen from the main roads.

The Glacier National Park in northern Montana, on the Canadian border, is the newest of the parks controlled by the Federal government. This park has an area of approximately 915,000 acres and has a maximum length of 60 miles. It has been well called the top of the continent, for within its boundaries is situated the great Continental Divide. At one point in the park a tourist may take the cup of water and cast the contents to one side, whence it will find its way to the Gulf of Mexico; to another side, whence it will finds its way to the Pacific ocean; or, in a third direction, whence it will find its way to Hudson Bay. The park obtains its name from the numerous glaciers which glisten in dazzling white in the saddles between the high peaks. It is well supplied with streams and lakes that have been formed by the damming of the valleys by the great mass of debris left by the continental glacier. The lakes are all long and narrow and in places wooded slopes, which are covered with a thick growth of pine and fir, lay close to the water's edge, while at other points precipitous cliffs form the border of the lake and dashing rivulets pour their crystal waters over the steep sides. As less than two years have elapsed since Glacier Park was created, little progress has been made in the construction of roads and trails. The traveler visiting this park must be prepared to travel on horseback. Those looking for comfort only had better go elsewhere, but those who desire to see nature in its wildest mood or to travel through the resinous forests of pine and fir or to escape the common luxuries of travel, will find no place in two continents that will be the equal of this park.

When one speaks of California the Yosemite Park naturally comes to mind. As long ago as 1864 an act of Congress granted the Yosemite Valley and the Mariposa Big Tree Grove to the State of California for public use and recreation. The Legislature of California, by the act approved on March 3, 1905, re-ceded the jurisdiction and ownership of this tract to the United States, and only since June 11 1906, has the management of the Yosemite National Park been under the control of the Federal government. The entire park has an area of about 36 by 40miles. The Yosemite Valley which is the most frequently visited place, is about seven miles long and three-fourths of a mile wide. In the center of this valley is a level park like meadow through which runs Merced river, while on either side the mountains rise steep and precipitous to a height of 4,000 feet above the floor of the valley. Numerous streams drop from the edge of the cliff to the valley below. The first of these as the tourise enters the valley is the Bridal Veil falls. A stream fully 30 feet wide falls first a distance of 600 feet, then rushes over a sloping pile of debris, and then drops perpendicularly 300 feet more. From the points from which it is generally viewed it seems to make but one plunge, and the general effect is that of a fall 900 feet high. The great waterfall in this park, however, is the Yosemite falls. This is a stream 35 feet wide, and in the Spring and early Summer when the snow is melting upon the high Sierra, its roar can be heard all over the valley and the shock of the descent rattles the windows a mile away. This fall is conceded by all critics to be one of the most wonderful and beautiful cascades in the world. Its first fall is about 1,600 feet sheer drop, then come a series of cascades, partly hidden, in which the fall is over 600 feet, and finally a vertical drop of 400 feet.

From the cliffs surrounding the valley the scene is one of remarkable inspiration and beauty. At the foot of the traveler lies the valley floor—the green trees and meadows and the winding river giving the effect of a rich velvet carpet over which a line of silver has been drawn; here and there one get glimpses of the foaming white waters hurling themselves to the valley below; on both sides of the valley rise the great walls of rock sculptored by the elements into various fantastic shapes and figures.

In the Yosemite, the Sequoia, and the General Grant National Parks are found the groves of big trees the like of which are seen nowhere else in the world. These trees grow to a height of 340 feet and have a circumference of over 100 feet at the base, the bark sometimes exceeding 40 inches in thickness. In the Mariposa Grove the road extends through the base of one of these trees and a coach and four is regularly driven through this tunnel in the tree without danger or discomfort to the traveler. The rings in the trunks of these trees show that many of them are over 2,000 years old. Cathedrals and castles have been built and fallen into decay, empires have come and gone, but these grizzly giants of the western slopes still raise their hoary heads and spread their grateful shade as they did in the days of the Caesars.

The largest glacial system in the world radiating from any single peak is situated on Mount Rainier in western Washington. The Mount Rainier National Park includes the mass of this great mountain and all the approaches to it. The traveler approaching Mount Rainier passes through areas in which the climate and the vegetation range from temperate to arctic. The lower valley is thickly covered with fir, hemlock, and cedar, the undergrowth is dense, and the forest floor is covered with moss and a litter of fallen branches and decayed wood. As the mountain is ascended the vegetation changes; at an altitude of 4,000 feet the forest cover consists of mountain hemlock, Alpine fir and Alaska cedar. Gradually the trees become smaller; they are gnarled and twisted as if they had endeavored to escape the fury of the fierce blasts that sweep over the upper slopes. The trees dwindle to straggling bushes and then the climber is on the bare rocks, polished and scarred by the masses of snow and ice that have swept over them. The last four miles to the summit is along the ridges between the glaciers or over the ice. The way is rough and steep and is a dangerous one unless accompanied by a guide.

The Crater Lake National Park in Oregon has within its borders a lake that is unique among the natural wonders of the world. This lake, into which no streams flow, and which has no visible outlet, lies in what is left of the caldera of a great mountain that rose to an elevation of over 14,000 feet above the sea. He who cares nothing for the wonderful history of this lake may well be entranced by its remarkable and striking beauty. Around the lake are 20 miles of unbroken cliffs ranging from 500 to 2,000 feet in height, whose brilliant colors are reflected in the clear and placid waters of the lake. Near the western edge of the lake is Wizard Island, in the top of which is an extinct crater 100 feet deep and 500 feet in diameter, and near the southern short is a jagged rock which from a distance resembles a ship, but which apparently disappears when the shadow of a cloud strikes it. This lake is not the only attraction of the national park in which it is situated. The surrounding peaks afford opportunities for climbing and the extended views from their summits offer an adequate recompense for the effort necessary to reach them.

In southwestern Colorado and northwestern New Mexico at one time dwelt one of the most remarkable races of the New World. High up in the cliffs which border the canyons that have been cut in the Mesa Verde are over 400 prehistoric ruins. Three of the most important ruins—Cliff Palace, Spruce Tree House, and Balcony House—have been excavated and repaired and give the visitor an idea of how these prehistoric people lived. This park is 25 miles from the nearest railroad station and can be reached only on horseback or on foot.

The Casa Grande Ruin, near Florence, Ariz., is an Indian ruin of undetermined antiquity, which was discovered in 1694 by Padre Kino, a Jesuit missionary. This great house is said to be the most important ruin of its type in the Southwest, and for this reason it has strong claims to archaeological study, repair, and permanent preservation. The main building was originally five or six stories high and covered a space of 59x43 feet. Some of the rooms have been excavated or restored and over 100 rooms on the ground floor are open to the public.

While the governments of Europe have been for many years far in advance of America in the preservation of the forests, they have at last come to look to this country for a policy with regard to national parks. The reports of the superintendents and the laws and regulations governing the various parks have been forwarded to the governments of Switzerland and to the Verein Naturschutzpark, of Stuttgart, Germany, which has for its object the establishment of parks for the preservation and protection of the fauna and flora of Austria and Germany, and which plans to establish smaller parks modeled after the Yellowstone. Information on the Yellowstone Park in particular has been sought by the superintendent of the New Zealand tourist and health resorts, by the secretary of the national parks in New South Wales, and by the secretary of the Royal Geographic Society of Australasia.

It is almost 40 years since Congress laid the beginning of the great national park system by passing the act creating the Yellowstone National Park, approved March 1, 1872. Other parks have been created since, until at present the area embraced in these great pleasure grounds of the people amounts to over 4,600,000 acres. The policy of establishing national parks has resulted in preserving from private exploitation and gain great areas which are characterized by magnificent scenery and which are used as vacation resorts by thousands of people.

AT PIEDMONT SPRINGS.

Reidsville Review's Party on an Outing—Other Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Piedmont Springs, June 17. — The Reidsville Review's party of Girl Scouts arrived in automobiles from Reidsville, a distance of 42 miles, making the trip in three hours and fifteen minutes. A considerable part of the road had never before been traversed by automobiles, and the residents along the route in Stokes county were lined the streets to see the cars pass. Many of the mountain people had never seen an automobile. The run was made with a perfect score by every car entered, and the young ladies had an enjoyable trip. At Danbury, the county seat of Stokes, many people lined the streets to se the cars pass. The coming of the scout party has caused the people who live at this end of the route traversed to talk of a modern turnpike road from the county seat of Stokes to the county seat of Rockingham, via Gideon, Madison and Stoneville. From Wentworth to Reidsville, a part of the route which will no doubt eventually be adopted as the National Automobile Highway, there is already a magnificent macadam road, and four miles of the route this side of Rockingham's county seat is also macadamized.

The Review's party were received with loud acclaim by the guests of the hotel when they arrived at Piedmont Springs. The office and dining room had been decorated with bunting, and copies of the Reidsville Review were everywhere in evidence, and at night there was a beautiful german given in their honor. The figures were gracefully led by Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Saunders, of Winston, with music by the splendid Kaufman Orchestra, of Richmond.

Many improvements have been made at this popular resort this season.

The grounds have been greatly beautified, and are now lighted by a system of gas lights which are a great improvement over old conditions. The guests are enjoying cards, tennis, croquet, pool, billiards, fishing, rowing on the Dan river, mountain climbing, and all forms of outdoor sports. Weather conditions have been ideal, and there are enough guests to make things lively.

Those now here are Misses Edna King, Mary Windsor, Kitty Irvin, Inez Wootton, Nellie Pettigrew and Marion Oliver, Reidsville; Wilson Watlington, and Iris Fitzgerald, Ruffin; Gertrude McKinney, Mclver; Bessie Richardson, Benaja; Gladys Cummings, Wentworth; Lelia Ellington, Oregon; Luda Moseley, Winston; Mattie Gardner, Ringgold; Della Jones, Byrdville, the Girl Scouts; Mr. and Mrs. John T. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barber, Mrs. R. T. Burton, Mr. Charlie Oliver, of Reidsville; Mrs. J. C. Buxton, Miss Anna Buxton, Mrs. Garland E. Webb, Misses Charlotte and Addie Webb, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Saunders, Mrs. Phin Horton, Mr. Phin Horton, Jr., Miss Minnie Allen, Winston; Mr. and Mrs. J. Willie Smith, Mrs. R. D. Thomas, Messrs. William Thomas and Richard Thomas, Greensboro; Messrs. Herbert Thurston and J. N. Kaufman, Richmond; Messrs. J. E. Amos and C. H. Jones, Reidsville; Mr. Ray H. Everett, New Haven, Conn.

Saturday night the guests will render a programme consisting of music and readings for the benefit of the St. Thomas Episcopal church at Reidsville, the congregation of which will soon begin the erection of a new church edifice, and many of the native mountain people as well as those from the towns and villages in Stokes will attend.

RECLAIMING SWAMP LANDS

Illinois Central to Operate Train Through South in Connection With Government — Campaign of Instruction.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Chicago, Ill., June 17.—To demonstrate that wet ditches through the swamp land areas of the South and East are of as great economic importance as are the dry ditches created by the government to lead water to arid lands in the irrigated West, the management of the Illionos Central and the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad Companies, co-operating with the government, is to operate through the South a train, leaving here June 14th, to be known as the Reclammation Special, carrying lecturers representing the United States Reclamation service and the Geological Survey, the tour being the initial campaign this year of the Illinois Central to arouse the interest of the South in its reclamation possibilities.

C. J. Blanchard, statistician of the Reclamation Service, and M. C. Leighton, chief hydrographer of the Geological Survey, will accompany officials of the road during the tour. Mr. Blanchard will tell of the work done by the government in the West, while Mr. Leighton will tell the Southerners of the agricultural benefits to be derived through the improvement of swamp areas and also of the importance to the national health of such development.

The tour, during which lectures will be delivered at 61 towns and cities, has been designed to give impetus to a movement launched recently by the National Irrigation Congress for swamp land improvements. Statistics of the government show there are 80,000,000 acres of such lands capable of drainage and one of the undertakings of the irrigation congress, which meets here this year, will be to obtain such legislation as will make possible swamp reclamation by the government.

The railway campaign will continue from towns in Southern Illinois to the Gulf of Mexico, taking in, besides Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana and Arkansas. Thousands of booklets telling of the reclamation movement as it relates to swamp lands have been prepared and will be distributed by the railway.

The train is to comprise a baggage car, one coach and a business car. The coach will be employed as a meeting hall by the government lecturers. Two stereopticon outfits will be taken, a smaller one to be used in the coach and the other for bigger halls. The tour will end at Fulton, Ky., on June 30th. Besides many smaller places, the train will reach such points as Cairo, Ill., Memphis, Tenn., Covington and Jackson, Tenn., Birmingham, Ala., Jackson, Vicksburg and Natchez, Miss., and New Orleans, and Baton Rouge, La. A special effort is to be made to interest farmers, merchants and manufacturers and arrangements are to be made for largely attended gatherings at the more important points.

"Reclamation in the South can best be furthered under plans prepared, financed and executed by the government, just as our arid lands in the West were developed," said W. L. Park, vice president and general manager of the Illinois Central. "Any project to reclaim our vast areas of swamp lands is so tremendous as to seem at first glance almost to be utopian, but such is not the condition at all. Swamp lands are more readily transformed into farms, as the reclamation work constitutes a simpler engineering undertaking than is the placing of water on arid lands. It is easier to lead water away from swamp lands, from an engineering point of view, than it is to reclaim any other lands which for physical reasons are impossible of cultivation.

"I believe that now is the time to become energetic in this work. We have the National Irrigation Congress here to work with and this organization is of much influence in furthering any undertaking of this character. The Irrigation Congress meets December 5th to 9th, and at that time it is certain the South will be represented by strong delegates to further the swamp land reclamation movement."

In anticipation of the interest likely to be aroused by the train, officials of the railway have stocked a special department with information concerning swamp lands and from this inquiries for such data will be answered in the future. During the trip of the special persons attending the meetings are to be invited to address the road for information on any subject of swamp land recalmation that has not been made clear.

LIFE OF NATHANIEL MACON

Illuminating Address by Mr. Josephus Daniels to Students of Randolph-Macon College—Theories of Government.

Mr. Josephus Daniels, editor of the Raleigh, (N. C.) News and Observer, delivered the address before the Literary Societies at Randolph-Macon College. At the suggestion of President Blackwell, he took as his subject Nathaniel Macon, one of the North Carolina statesmen, who with John Randolph of Virginia, was honored when this college was given the name of Randolph-Macon.

Mr. Daniels began his address by tracing the ties in blood, in spirit and in purpose that always made a spirit of brotherhood between the States of North Carolina and Virginia, and said that he believed it never was stronger than now. He said that the difference between these two States had merely served to make each one to have higher appreciation of the patriotism and the service of the men of their sister State.

Shortly there will be erected in the Capitol Square at Raleigh a monument to H. L. Wyatt, a member of the Edgecombe Company of the North Carolina troops, who was the first Confederate soldier who gave his life for the cause of Southern Independence. When it is unveiled on the base will be chiseled the words: "First at Bethel," the honor that North Carolina will render to this young soldier will be an honor also to Virginia, for H. L. Wyatt was born in Richmond, and, moving to North Carolina just before the War Between the States joined the Edgecombe Company and lost his life at Bethel.

He spoke of the contribution of strong men Virginia had given North Carolina in the early days of its settlement, and said that North Carolina had never found but one way of repaying that debt, and that has been to give Virginia in this decade such eminent men as President Alderman of the University of Virginia, President Barringer of the V. P. I., President Moore of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, President Hodges of the Medical College, in the world of letters and other eminent educators, President Strudwick of the South Atlantic Life Insurance Company, President Jackson of the Virginia Trust Company, President Morgan of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical Company and scores of others who stand high in the business world of the old Dominion, this inter-change of talent, inter-marriage and propinquity have been such that the boundary line between North Carolina and Virginia is only an imaginary line on the map which nobody in either State ever regards.

Gideon Macon, the father of Nathaniel Macon, was one of the large Colony of Virginians who treked to North Carolina and settled in what was then Bute county, on the Southern side of the Roanoke River. At one time Bute County, now Warren, furnished both U. S. Senators, Governor, members of Congress, the Federal District Judge and the Judge of the Supreme Court, so that the community that gave to the public Nathaniel Macon was fruitful in making great men. The part North Carolina played in securing the amendment to the Constitution guaranteeing religious liberty and freedom of the press, by its act of self abnegation in staying out of the Union until all the good offices had been given out, was due to Jefferson's advice which he communicated in a letter to Wiley Jones, urging North Carolina to serve the young Republic by an act of self abnegation that had not been paralelled.

Nathaniel Macon after being educated at home in a country school, by the country school teachers, was in college at Princeton when the Revolutionary War began. He quit his books and served with a New Jersey Company for a time, later serving as a private in a North Carolina Company taking part in Charleston, at Fort Moultrie, and on the Catawba in important engagements. While in the army he was elected to the Legislature and declined to accept until the Colonel of his Company told him that he could serve the cause of the colonies better in the Legislature than in the ranks. He declined to accept any pay as a soldier, as later in life he declined to accept any mileage money while a member of Congress, except his actual expenses.

Lord Palmerston was regarded as a typical Englishman because he embodied the prejudice as well as virtues of John Bull. Nathaniel Macon likewise was the spirit of North Carolina incarnate. He illustrated its simple dignity, its faith in the people and its self-reliance and its state maxim that "It is to be rather than to seem." It was as true of him as the Master said of a Nathaniel of old, "Behold an Israelite in whom there is no guile."

The close relationship between Macon and Randolph which never terminated, although they did not always agree, was touched upon and the fact that this college was named for these two statesmen, emphasizes the fact that this institution gave a permanent and lasting significance to the oneness of the sentiment between the people of North Carolina and Virginia.

A number of incidents illustrating the life of Mr. Macon were told, some of them not being without humor. Though not so well educated and more judicial than Mr. Jefferson, Macon was not unlike the sage of Monticello in many particulars. Their political faith was the same and Mr. Macon really had more influence and was more powerful in North Carolina in organizing the people against the Alien and Sedition Law and the administration of Adams, than Jefferson in Virginia. Left a widower at 32, Mr. Macon, like Mr. Jefferson, never again married and each, therefore, threw themselves into their country's cause, fully and without reserve. Mr. Macon entered Congress in 1791, and was three times Speaker of the House, originated the previous question as a means of stopping too much talking, was President pro tem. of the Senate, Chairman of the Committee of Foreign Relations and remained in the Senate until 1828, when, though he had three more years to serve, he resigned because he had made up his mind that when he reached the years of three score and ten, he would retire from public life, and put between him and eternity those remaining years of quiet, which every good man ought to wish to spend before he goes into the presence of his Maker.

Mr. Macon's attitude toward the protective tariff, which he believed would prove to be the control of government by what he called "the invisibles," but which in this day is called "the system," his hostility to bounties of all sorts, his consistent and earnest fight against extravagance and for frugal and economical government, his able and consistent upholding of the doctrine that the Federal government has no rights except those that are delegated, were touched upon as illustrating the type of men for whom the college was named. Mr. Daniels told of the request by President Roosevelt's great uncle to permit himself and an associate to own all the mines in the United States that they might find, and Congress was disposed to grant that request so as to encourage the iron industry. Mr. Macon refused to vote for it, saying that it gave them a monopoly of all the mines in the United States, and added that "they would work the mines if it was to their interest to do so; if not, he would not want to offer them an inducement to do so."

Mr. Macon believed more than anything else in the freedom of the press, and freedom of religion. He was pointed out as the pioneer in hostility to standing armies, large navies and to war. The new peace movement ought to make him one of its patron saints, for he stood in a day when it was not popular to be against large appropriations for a military system and scouted the idea that the way to get peace was to spend millions to prepare for war. He believed that the local militia were to be depended upon to fight, and while willing to vote any amount of money necessary for a militia drawn from the people, he was not willing to vote for a large standing army or a great navy.

Mr. Macon was a leader in North Carolina in the movement that made Jefferson President, and yet Jefferson had not been in the White Hous more than a month before Mr. Macon began to remind him of the promises that had been made by him, and for him during the campaign. Mr. Macon was a politician who believed that a platform was made to stand on as well as get in on, and although he admired Jefferson greatly, he would not have stood for him had he not carried out his platform. Twice Mr. Jefferson offered Mr. Macon a place in the cabinet, and both times he declined and always refused to hold any office to which he had not been elected by the people. In all his life, although he held office more than forty years, he never requested any man to vote for him and never spent any money in any campaign. He believed that the safety of government was in frequent elections and believed that an election ought to be held every year, in other words he believed in a recall, but did not call it that. He wished a man recalled every year so that he could give an account of his stewardship so that the people could get rid of the officers if they did not please them.

Mr. Macon was pictured as the greatest man North Carolina had produced, counting greatness by large wisdom, judicial poise, long and useful service and that incarnation of the spirit of the State that makes a man most fit to be its real representative. He told the story of his retirement and of his death—like the death of Socrates without the hemlock and with a full faith in the religion of which the Grecian had but a glimmering. Concluding, Mr. Daniels said:

"Thus passed 'the last of the Romans,' as Mr. Jefferson called him, after a continuous service of thirty-seven years in the Federal Congress, following five terms in the State Senate and service in the Revolutionary War. He presided as Speaker of the House, President of the Senate, and over the North Carolina Constitutional Convention of 1835. He twice refused a seat in the Cabinet and would have been Vice-President if he had permitted the use of his name, and in 1824 received six votes for President and eleven for Vice-President in the electoral college. More than fifty years he gave to his country, and in North Carolina his name among those who believe in the capacity of man for self-government, like that of Abou Ben Adhem, can be said to this day to lead all the rest.

"A small man, a superficial man, an unwise man may sometimes be put by a great and independent State into high station for a time, but no State that has always been inclined to rotation in office ever called a man into its service and kept him there nearly half a century who was not built upon a large plan, and who lacked the wisdom of statesmanship. An uncompromising disciple of the Jeffersonian school, he had as political antagonists in his State such able men as Iredell Johnston and Davie, and yet, because he believed in the people and wisely led them into larger participation in government, and stood for the doctrines that were the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night during the Revolution, Macon rose superior to his associates and party opponents; so that for many years the chief asset any candidate had in a campaign in North Carolina was: 'He stands with Macon, and Old Nat says he is all right.'

"There are no accidents in life, young gentlemen. Sometimes you see what you think a meteor rise in the sky. It is only a rocket, it goes up and dizzles for a time, but it comes down like a stick. No man in America has for fifty years held public station and been called from retirement in two crises, who was not a truly great man. You and I may not be able to dissect the man and tell wherein lies his greatness, but if his people trusted him and followed him unquestioningly you may put it down that his contemporaries were better judges of greatness than posterity, and accept their verdict.

"I wish that time permitted me to give you the estimate in which this truly great man was held by his contemporaries.

"John Randolph, of Roanoke, wrote: 'Macon was the best, wisest and purest man I ever knew. * * * If wisdom consisted in properly exercising our judgment upon the value of things desirable, Mr. Macon was certainly the wisest man I ever saw.'

"John Tyler said: 'Macon had a judgment so inflexible and exact as rarely to be shaken. There was a beautiful consistency in his course, from the moment of his entering public life to the moment of his quitting it. Nothing sordid ever entered into his imagination. He was a devoted patriot, whose whole heart and every corner of it was filled with love of country.'

"Thomas H. Benton called him 'the real Cincinnatus of America,' the 'pride and ornament of his State,' 'philosophic in temperament and wise in his conduct, governed in all his actions by reason and judgment, and deeply imbued with Bible teachings,' he was a 'virtuous and patriotic man,' and he added, 'Macon would stake his life for his friend, but would violate no public duty to please or oblige him.'

"Between him and your great Jefferson there existed a relationship, not so intimate as between Macon and Randolph, but a relation based more upon the consistent advocacy of the same principles. The last correspondence between them was when Macon requested Jefferson to name the sculptor, who should be chosen by North Carolina to design a marble statue of Washington, when Canova was selected. Jefferson's estimate of Macon was best summed up in a letter written to Macon in introducing his grandson, in March, 1826. Mr. Jefferson wrote: 'My grandson, Thomas Jefferson Randolph, the bearer of this letter, on a journey to the North, will pass two or three days, perhaps, in Washington. I cannot permit him to do this without presenting him to a friend of so long standing, whom I consider as the strictest of our models of genuine republicanism. Let him be able to say, when you are gone but not forgotten, that he had seen Nathaniel Macon, upon whose tomb will be written: "Ultimus Romanorum." I only ask you to give him a hearty shake of the hand, on my account, as well as his own, assuring you he merits it as a citizen, to which I will add my unceasing affection to yourself.'

"Such tribute from the man best entitled to give the proper place to Macon in history might be multiplied but they are sufficient to give the name and fame of Macon first place among North Carolina's 'few, the immortal names that were not born to die!'

"I congratulate your college that the Virginian whose name you bear had the brilliancy of intellect to command the emulation of students ambitious to win honors in the forum, and that the North Carolinian whose name you bear had that staedfiness of wisdom and ripeness of judgment essential to any long and useful career. Most of all, I congratulate you that the men for whom your college was named never bartered principle for place, or permitted the baneful use of money in politics to have any part in their public career. Your college has given to North Carolina many of its first men. It stands for Culture and Virtue and Christianity—the trinity that alone makes education the true hat of life. May it live to furnish to this and to other States men who in coming years shall be as wise in their eneration as Nathaniel Macon was in his day."

POSTAL GIVES ITS POSITION.

Asks if Merger of Bell and Western Union is Legal.

In the June number of the Postal Telegraph, the official journal of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, appears an article which asks if the merger of the Bell and the Western Union, and the acts of the Bell interests in acquiring independent telephone properties, are not in violation of the Sherman law as recently interpreted in the Standard Oil case. The article points at the "monopoly" feature of the decision and applying it to the Bell Telephone-Western Union situation, asks:

"1. Has not the Bell Telephone Company acquired control of the Western Union Telegraph Company with the intent and for the purpose of building up a monopoly, especially in the leased wire business, in which those companies were keen competitors before the combine?

"2. Has not the Bell Telephone Company acquired control of competing telephone companies with the intent and for the purpose of building up a monopoly in the telephone business?

"3. Is not the Western Union Telegraph Company seeking to acquire control of the Anglo-American Telegraph Company, with the intent and for the purpose of building up a monopoly in the submarine cable business?

"4. Did not the acquisition by the Bell Telephone Company of the control of the Western Union Telegraph Company, at a time when the former controlled the Postal Telegraph-Cable Company of Texas, have the effect of creating a monopoly in the telegraph business in the States of Texas, Oklahoma and surrounding States?"

Tambo and Bones Meet Again.

Tambo—Howdy, Bonesy! Good gracious me! I ain't seen you for ages.

Bones—No; 'cause I'se been in jail—dat's whyfore.

Tambo—Wat? Locked up, Bonesy?

Bones—Dat's wat I said. Thought de whole town knowed 'bout it, anyway.

Tambo—But why? You ain't killed somebody, have you?

Bones—No-suh! den dey might have turned me loose. Y' see, I'se a carpenter by perfession, and some Sat'day, two weeks, as I happn'd to be nailin' up a sign for de Junction Resterrant—down dere on de left-hand side of Princess street, goin' east—a policeman he run up and a'rested me.

Tambo—Wat for, I'd like to know?

Bones—He say-ed, for drivin' on de wrong side of de street.

Tambo—Ef dat don't beat all!

Bones—I couldn't complain, howeber, —didn't dey right afterwards de same day a'rest a coop of chickens for using fowl language in de market house, and haul up a poor old country visitor wearing number fourteen shoes, for havin' obstructions on de sidewalk?

Tambo—Dat certainly is a funny bus'ness. Come to think of it, still, Bonesy, you mus' have enjoyed dat sojourn in jail.

Bones—How come you thought dat?

Tambo—Oh! bein' in such continual close companionship wid bars, widout havin' to spend a single cent. Oh me! Oh my! Ha! Ha!

Bones—Say, Tamby, layin' all dem Te-He's a-side, wat we gwine do after de 1st of July, noway?

Tambo—Well? Am you worried some?

Bones—Not muh! I care not wat course others may take, but as fer me, I'd rather drink Hops, dan Tadpoles, Pollywogs and Germdoodles any day. De Commission aint got no right to make us drink water ef its infected—or disinfected, I fergot which dey said it was.

Tambo—Changin' de subject, a trifle, Bonesy, do de Tidewater Power Company hab to pay a corporation tax?

Bones—It aint no corporation—it am a gold mine.

Tambo—Dat lit'le commercial club of our'n is sure a hustler; yes?

Bones—Wat all hab it done?

Tambo—Why dey've had five suppers already!

Bones—Anyt'ing doin' socially? I'se naturally stale on news.

Tambo—No; 'ceptin' de city authorities am preparin' to give some of de town dogs a pound party now pretty soon.

Bones—And wat am become of de Civic League?

Tambo—I tink it am become combined wid de Greater Wilmington Club.

Bones—Tamby, I wants to put a question ter you.

Tambo—All right; crank up.

Bones—Wen does our new chief expec' to receive his new uniform?

Tambo—Wat makes you think he has to wear one?

Bones—Nothin'; 'ceptin' it have always been de uniform practice for our chiefs to do so.

Tambo—Watcher tink about pavin' Front street?

Bones—Like de one-legged man, I aint got much of a kick comin'—dat is, ef dey don't go and pave it with rubble-stone or cannon balls. I'se right eas'ly suited.

Tambo—By de way, hab you been to de beach much lately?

Bones—You mus' take me for de Prodigal Son wen he was goin' good; I aint no spendthrift. Say; I read in some paper at de time I was incarcerated—or incinerated, anyway one of dem classy high-brow words meanin', in plain rough-neck, in jail—dat we might soon have a Town Rooster.

Tambo—No; No; Bonesy, not a Rooster; a Booster.

Bones—No-suh; de paper I read say'ed Rooster. Of cours', dat might have been a mistake, but I thought dat maybe dey gave de job dat title of Town Rooster 'cause de interested gent was so cock-sure of getting it Am you on?

Tambo—Bonesy, I'm awfully glad to see you out, but I mus' go now; got to go up de street and buy a gent a drink and a cigar so's to induce him to locate a manufacturin' enterprise in Wilmington.

Bones—Wat will it make, Tamby?

Tambo—Oh, lamp-wicks out of peanut hulls. Good-day!

THE POTASH SITUATION.

The American Negotiators Have Sailed Without Reaching Agreement.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

New York, June 17.—Cable reports received by the New York representative of Kaliwerke Sollstedt state that the American negotiators for the independent potash mines have sailed for the United States, without having reached a settlement with the German Potash Syndicate.

When the independent American potash buyers made new contracts last month with the syndicate, it became necessary to come to such terms with the Sollstedt and Aschersleben mines as would save the buyers from suits for performance of their earlier contracts.

The Sollstedt representative stated today that in the absence of a settlement war between the independent mines and the German syndicate must ensue, and extensive litigation result over the contracts between the independent mines and those American buyers who last month made contracts with the syndicate in spite of their existing contracts with independent producers.

It is reported that the Aschersleben mine is already preparing to proceed against the makers of the original low price potash contract. It is this contract and the many others on the same basis which the Department of State unsuccessfully attempted to protect against the stringent potash tax law.

Wins Fight for Life.

It was a long and bloody battle for life that was waged by James B. Morshon, of Newark, N. J., of which he writes: "I had lost much blood from long hemorrhages, and was very weak and run-down. For eight months I was unable to work. Death seemed close on my heels, when I began, three weeks ago, to use Dr. King's New Discovery. But it has helped me greatly. It is doing all that you claim." For weak, sore lungs, obstinate coughs, stubborn colds, hoarseness, la grippe, asthma, hayfever or any throat or lung trouble it is supreme. 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by R. R. THE ENGLISH CORONATION

Final Preparations for Great Britain's Big Week—Some Description of Scenes in London—The Guests and Populace.

London, June 17.—The final preparations for the coronation festivities through next week are rapidly being brought to a close, and the city is fast being given, over to a spirit of holiday rejoicing on a colossal scale, with untold thousands of visitors from America and other parts of the world here, to join in the royal demonstration.

A notable feature along the lines of route to be followed by the newly crowned king, in his procession through the streets of London next Thursday and Friday, is the almost complete transformation of familiar sights.

Churches, ancient edifices, public buildings and open spaces, business premises and private residences have entirely changed their appearance. Starting with the Wistminister Abbey itself, the annex added to increase the accommodation has altered its aspect almost alarmingly, although efforts were exerted to lend an air of age to the stucco addition

The Parliamentary church of St Margaret and the adjacent Parliament square are unrecognisable in consequence of the gigantic stands covered with purple bunting, surrounding and hiding them from view. On the latter spot the statue of Lord Beaconsfield appears to look down on the passing procession as from a private box at a theatre, for it is enclosed in a square wooden palisade reaching to the breast.

Then along Whitehall, stand after stand varies the usual appearance of the imposing government offices and the old-fashioned Admiralty. At Trafalgar-square Landseer's lions have disappeared under timber tiers of seats. Old Satin Martin's in the Fields is cloaked in bunting and surrounded by crowded stands.

In response to many petitions from participants in the Coronation ceremonial, the Office of Works has decided to permit those present to purchase as souvenirs the chairs and stools on which they sat, all of which are marked with the word "Coronation" and embossed with the crown and the date of the occurrence.

The onerous duty of the disposition of the guests has fallen on the Earl Marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, who for many weeks has been the busiest man in England. His task was rendered all the more difficult by reason of the fact that the space in Westminister Abbey is very limited and before he was able to take into consideration any of the thousands of applications for invitations from the distinguished visitors and others desirous of being present, he was compelled to provide sitting room for no fewer than 4,040 official guests.

These guests comprised 40 members of the Royal family, 250 foreign rulers and representatives of foreign States, 1,450 peers and peeresses, 670 members of Parliament, 300 members of the diplomatic corps, privy councillors, bishops and judges, 600 official colonial representatives and 730 officers of the army and navy, king's councellors and members of the Royal household. As the Abbey is capable of holding only slightly under 6,000, there remained only about 2,000 places to be disposed of by the unofficial public. A large staff was engaged in the Earl Marshal's office for over a month in sending out courteous refusals.

A peculiar dilemma arising out of the scorcity of first-class carriage horses which has developed since the universal introduction of the motor car affected many members of the peerage and ancient nobility participating prominently in the regal functions and processions of the coronation. The question of horsing the cumbersome but elegantly emblazoned family State coaches which have been in service sometimes for centuries, on such occasions became in many cases acute and recourse had to be had for their supply not only to the stables of country mansions where most of the animals are now kept, but to the public livery stables, who for a time enjoyed something of their prestige.

No fewer than 60,000 troops, comprising respective regiments of the regular army, the yeomanry, the territorial volunteers, and detachments from Canada, South Africa, Ceylon, Honkong, the Malay States, Malta, Bermuda and the West Indian colonies, together with a naval brigade, are to be engaged in keeping the routes along the line of procession. These are under the supreme command of Field-marshal Lord Kitchener, who was specially appointed to the post by the King.

In addition to the military, the entire police forces of the City and a greater London, numbering altogether over 20,000 men mounted or on foot, are assisting in keeping order.

To avoid the terrible consequences of possible rushes into the main thoroughfares from side streets, barriers of timber are erected at the most dangerous street junctions.

Shopping Ethics.

Systematize your shopping.

Have a definite idea of what you want.

Write out a list of the shops where your wants will be best supplied.

Ask for what you wish in a clear comprehensive manner.

Remember that one has no right to waste other people's time.

Observe the same courtesy toward others that you would expect yourself.

"Please" and "Thank you" are easily said.

Don't buy a thing because it is cheap.

If possible, do your shopping alone.

Count your change and be sure to have an error corrected promptly.

If you have an account, keep a daily memorandum of purchases, otherwise, small sums will mount up and you will be appalled at the amount of the bill at the end of the month.

Be just about allowing the person who arrived before you to be served first, even if the saleswoman turns to you instead.

Carry home small parcels yourself.

If you are a person of leisure, avoid sopping on Saturday afternoons. With many, it is their only time to shop and the saleswomen should not be needlessly overworked.

Above all, try to be cheerful and unselfish, and it will pay. As you treat the world, so it will treat you.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

HOW THE BOY GOT THE PLACE.

A gentleman advertised for a boy, and nearly 50 came to see him. Out of the whole number he chose one, and dismissed the rest.

"I should like to know," said a friend, "why you picked out that boy, who had not a single recommendation?"

"You are mistaken," said the gentleman; "he had a great many. He wiped his feet when he came in and closed the door after him, showing that he was careful.

"He gave his seat instantly to an elderly person, showing that he was thoughtful and kind. He took off his cap, and answered my questions promptly, showing that he was gentlemanly.

"He picked up a book I had purposely laid on the floor, and replaced it upon the table; and he waited quietly for his turn instead of pushing and crowding, showing that he was honorable and orderly.

"When I talked to him I noticed that his clothes were brushed, and his hair in order.

"Don't you call those little things recommendations? I do; and I would give more for what I can tell about a boy by using my eyes than for all the letters he can bring."—Apples of Gold.

TEXACO ROOFING

is made of solid, extra heavy, first quality, wool felt, thoroughly saturated with Texaco Bitumen, over 99 per cent pure, and afterward finished with an extra heavy coating of the same material.

TEXACO BITUMEN—over 99 per cent pure — possesses great fire-resisting properties, is not oxidized by the action of the elements, is impervious to the action of acids, fumes and gases, is not injured by the extremes of heat and cold, and remains adhesive and pliable.

The weakest point of ready roofing is at the lap, due to the disintegration and hardening of the cement used, but Texaco Roofing Cement, made of bitumen over 99 per cent pure, insures a permanent waterproof lap.

The principal merits of TEXACO ROOFING are:
ECONOMY of first cost and application.
SIMPLICITY and ease of application.
PERFECTION of weather and water-resisting qualities.
MAXIMUM of strength and durability.
FIRE-RESISTING.
PLIABILITY and immunity from injury by extremes of temperature; and, last but not least,

A PERMANENT LAP, by use of Texaco Roofing Cement, which gives security, strength and waterproofing at the weakest point of a roof.
